Panama Declares 'Siege'

Secret Police Hunt Killers Of Remon

PANAMA (AP) — The body of slain President Jose Antonio Remon was carried on a fire engine to a final resting place in the National Cemetery late Monday. Thousands lined the streets in a final tribute to the country's "strong man" ruler.

There was no clue as yet to the identity of the assassins who mowed down Remon with machine gun fire at a race track Sunday night. The strategic Central American republic was under a state of siege—a modified form of martial law temporarily suppressing constitutional guarantees—to aid secret police hunt the assassins.

Former President Arnulfo Arias and two women, Thelma King and Olga Tanis, were among a score of persons already rounded up for questioning. The National Assembly decreed the state of siege for a 10-day period.

Leads Cortege

Jose Ramon Guizado, who was sworn in as president following the assassination, led an impressive funeral cortege.

Remon, 46-year-old strongman regarded as the outstanding president in the republic's history, was shot down from the darkness Sunday night as he stood with friends in a brilliantly lighted pavilion at the fashionable Juan Franca Race Track four miles northeast of this city. Two other men were killed and three were wounded in the exchange of gunfire between the assassins and the presidential bodyguard.

Col. Saturnino Flores, deputy commander of the National Guard, Panama's main military force, said the authorities have no definite clues to identify or motive of the assassins. But Flores indicated strongly the weight of suspicion fell on supporters of Arias, ousted from the presidency in the bloody 1951 coup by the National Guard which Remon headed.

Plot Failed

Flores said that if the object of the assassination was to gain control of the government, the plot failed because the National Guard had firm control of the situation. He recalled recent threats of major developments by Arias' followers.

In New York, U. S. Secretary of State Dulles said apparently "no Communist issue was involved" in the assassination.

The National Assembly, which earlier Monday swore in the first vice president and foreign minister, Jose Ramon Guizado, as the new president, first considered declaring a 30-day state of siege. This was amended unanimously to the 10-day period.

Panama appeared to have clamped a tight watch on its borders and ports to prevent the assassins' escape. A dispatch from San Jose, in neighboring Costa Rica, indicated the international border was sealed to travelers as scheduled planes arrived without passengers.

The two men killed with Remon were Jose Peralta, a secret police plainclothesman who passed by as the shooting began, and Danilo Sousa, an athlete apparently caught in the line of fire from the presidential bodyguard. The authorities said the assassins opened up with machineguns from the darkened grandstand, after the day's races were over, while Remon and his party sat in the brilliantly lighted area near the presidential box.

Not-Too-Nice Day Foreseen

A less-than-nice day is the prospect for Tuesday.

The weatherman foresees freezing drizzle for the southeastern part of the state with partly cloudy skies for the remainder.

It will be colder east and central but not so cold in the west and warming a little over the entire state Tuesday night.

Tuesday's highs will be 30-35 in the northeast to 35-40 in the southwest.

Old Man Lies Helpless In Missouri River Wilderness For Nearly A Month

OMAHA (AP)—A 66-year-old man who said he had lain helpless in Missouri River wilderness for nearly a month was rescued Monday.

Otto Drefs, an old-age pensioner, was in fair condition at County Hospital.

He was found on the Nebraska side of the river two miles south of the South Omaha bridge.

Drefs said he had been there since Dec. 8 or 9 when he suffered cramps while hiking and was unable to continue.

He had no food during that time, but drank about a gallon of river water each day, he said.

Drefs said he started a fire with matches and had kept it alive each day by adding weeds and logs.

Officers said Drefs' overalls were burned and that he was burned slightly about the wrists.

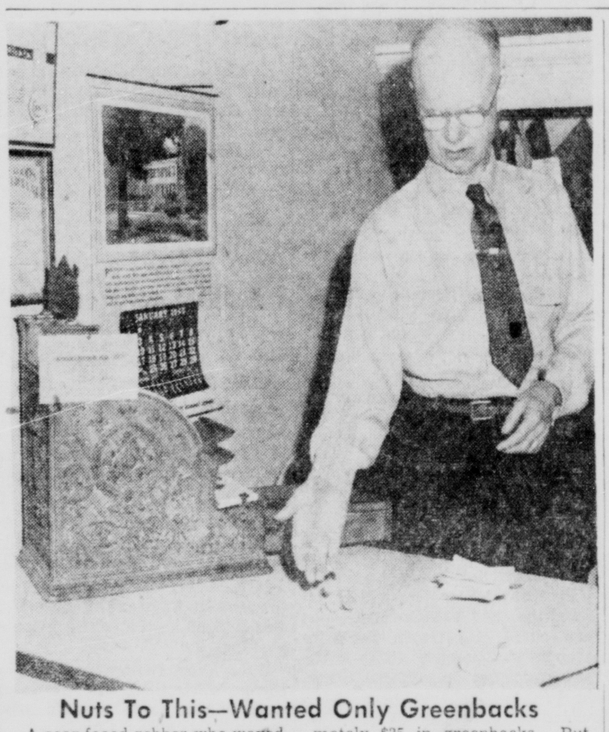

Shouted Every Day

Drefs related that he had shouted every day but to no avail until Monday when his cries were heard by Dave Shoemake, Rt. 1, Council Bluffs, who has a farm near the river. Shoemake called authorities.

Shoemake recalled seeing smoke across the river about three weeks ago but thought nothing of it.

When officers reached him, Drefs was suffering from exposure and was "awfully hungry," County Hospital reported.

Drefs had been living at a South Omaha rest home until about a month ago.

Nuts To This—Wanted Only Greenbacks

A scar-faced robber who waved a bulge in his topcoat at W. O. Carlson, owner of the City Cleaner's (above), forced the 54-year-old cleaner to hand over approximately $35 in greenbacks. But he snubbed $10 in change that Carlson placed on the counter. The robbery occurred at 1605 O Street. (Star Staff Photo).

Man Calmly Sticks Up City Cleaners For $35

A quiet-voiced man waving a bulge in his topcoat pocket robbed the City Cleaners at 1605 O late Monday afternoon while the owner was alone in the store. Police said he got $30 to $35.

The hasty stickup man left $10 in change on the counter and bypassed an open safe to flee.

Owner W. O. Carlson, 54, of 3421 No. 67th, said "I don't know why it should make me feel nervous now, I wasn't nervous at all talking with him."

Carlson told police that the man, whom he described as about 35-40 years old, six feet, 175 pounds, dark haired with a crease on his right cheek and wearing a powder blue tweed topcoat, came into his store just before closing time.

"He told me he wanted the cleaning for Rogers," Carlson said, "and after looking through the rack I told him we had no cleaning for Rogers."

Hurry Up

"Then he said 'come on give me all you got, hurry up.' I was going to bluff when he said insistently 'Come on hurry up.' I tossed out the currency from the cash register. He grabbed it and stuffed it into his topcot while waving the bulge at me with the other hand."

"He walked out as though he was a casual customer and walked west, the same direction he came from," the store owner stated. Then Carlson quickly called police.

Carlson told police the man apparently had not been drinking, and did not seem nervous, just in a hurry.

"I had never seen him before, but I got one good look at him when I gave him the cash. I would remember him," Carlson said.

"The man never threatened me, just waved the topcoat at me," he said.

Police immediately sent out a broadcast on the stickup man.

Carlson said all that was in the safe was a "couple of dollars and a check for $9.50."

Benson Says:

Vitt Letter On Ouster 'Mistake'

Ag Chief Accepts No Responsibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary Benson said Monday it was a mistake for the Agriculture Department to make public a letter from George N. Vitt commenting on its refusal to accept Wolf Ladejinsky as an agricultural attache for Japan.

Vitt, industrial editor of American Exporter Publications at New York City, made several references to Jews in his letter which was made public last week by Milan Smith, executive assistant to Benson.

Release of the letter has drawn criticism from a number of Jewish groups and organizations on the contention that it carried anti-Semitic overtones.

The department refused to accept Ladejinsky under congressional legislation transferring agriculture attaches from the State to the Agriculture Department. Ladejinsky had been serving in Tokyo for several years.

Broader Knowledge

The refusal was made on the basis of security reasons and also on the grounds that the department preferred a man with broader knowledge of American agricultural and marketing problems, Agriculture Department spokesmen said.

Ladejinsky was born in Russia and has sisters still living in that country, a circumstance the Agriculture Department said might make him vulnerable to pressure.

The attache had twice been been cleared by the State Department.

Benson said in a statement:

"I accept no responsibility for any of the statements or conclusions in the Vitt or any other letter received by the department in connection with the Ladejinsky matter. It was a mistake to show the letter to reporters, and by so doing imply the department's approval of its contents."

In his letter, Vitt applauded Benson's refusal to accept Ladejinsky. Vitt also said a "goodly share" of Russian revolutionaries who came to this country were "found to be Russian Jews."

Senators Ready To Start

Attention On Speaker's Post For Unicameral

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Most of the members of the 1955 Legislature arrived in Lincoln Monday in preparation for the opening session Tuesday noon.

Clerk Hugo Srb held a session with new members in the afternoon to explain procedures and rules under which the Legislature operates. Nearly every one of the 14 new members was in attendance.

Older members were getting their personal files in order and having some additional bills drafted. In addition they were concerned with the organization and election of officers.

Chairmen and members of the various committes must be chosen, but before that will come the more important election of the speaker for the Unicameral.

Three men have been prominently mentioned for the post. They are Sen. Dwight Burney of Hartington, Sen. O. H. Person of Wahoo, and Sen. Harry Pizer of North Platte. Pizer said Monday that he would accept the post but that he did not consider he would be a strong candidate.

Burney Has Support

A number of senators were working in behalf of Burney, who has stated that he will not ask for a vote. "The job should seek the man, not the man the job," Burney insists.

Sen. Person arrived in the afternoon. How much activity would be generated in his behalf as the members visit before the noon meetig starts could not be determined.

Members generally appeared more interested in getting assignments to committees that would be dealing with problems in which their communities were particularly interested.

Postmaster, sergeant-at-arms and assistant, and chaplain are elective offices that will have to be filled. It was expected that the voting would be informal as in past years with all candidates names voted upon.

While many of the senators insisted that they do not intend to introduce many bills, they indicated a general feeling that the session will be long and hard.

There were indications that the members hope to make definite progress in settling some of the recurring problems such as taxes, schools and highway problems. From differing opinions expressed on all subjects it was apparent that a lot of hard work lays ahead.

Today's Chuckle

IT SURE IS FRUSTRATING!

A wail of protest against the fickleness of Lincoln weather issues from Alan Speidel, 4½, (standing) as he tries vainly to give his brother David, 2, a ride on his Christmas-present sled. He's got good reason to complain. This winter marks the second consecutive year in which snow has been extremely light. Very unusual, the Weather Bureau says. Few Officials Comment On Bates Report; First Reaction Is Favorable

Nebraska officials were hesitant Monday night about commenting on the Sanford Bates report on state penal institutions.

Most had not had the opportunity to read the complete report.

Gov.-elect Victor Anderson said, "I think it is a very intelligent and constructive analysis of the situation at the Penitentiary. Mr. Bates is a very experienced prison administrator and I will recommend the Board of Control follow out as much as possible the program outlined in his report."

Gov. Robert Crosby, declining to comment, said he had not had a chance to glance at the report but was taking it home Monday night to read.

W. H. Diers, chairman of the Board of Control, speaking for the group said the board had read and approved the report.

"We believe that it is a true word picture of his findings—good, bad and indifferent," Diers added. "After Warden Hann receives the report, the board will discuss with him and set up new rules for recalcitrant inmates. Then we will start consideration of other recommendations in the report."

Diers had asked Bates how the Nebraska pen stood in comparison with other state prisons and was informed that there are two types of prisons—northern and southern.

Compared with northern prisons, Diers said, Bates commented that the things he found favorable at Nebraska were above average and the bad conditions about average.

Penitentiary Warden Herbert Hann said he had just seen parts of the report and would have no comment to make. Any comment will be up to the Board of Control, he said.

Both George Morris, superintendent of the Men's Reformatory, and Mrs. Hattie Bowley, superintendent of the Women's Reformatory at York, said they had not seen the report and therefore did not feel in a position to comment on it.

Dr. James Reinhardt, chairman of the citizens committee which made a lengthy investigation of the penal institutions, stated he had not seen the report but that in conversations with Bates found that he supported the committee's findings.

Saw 'A Great Deal'

Although Bates was here only a short time, Reinhardt pointed out, he "did seem to see a great deal behind the surface which only a trained person could see."

Reinhardt said the committee had volunteered to make all their files and information available for Bates' use. However, Bates did not interview persons outside the penitentiary who had given information to the committee, Reinhardt explained.

Judge Harry Landis of Seward, also a member of the citizen's committee, was very interested in learning of the highlights of the Bates report but said he would have no comment until he had read the entire contents.

Frank Weygint, the third committee member, is out of the city.

Penitentiary Recommendations Given

Following are the recommendations of penal expert Sanford Bates for "improvement of the program" at the Nebraska Penitentiary:

(1) Erect new and adequate segregation building. This should have a separate portion with individual entrance for punishment. The punishment cells should be clean, light and well supplied with plumbing.

(2) There should be a change in punishment policies . . . (See story on Page 2.)

(3) Careful distinction should be made between the treatment of inmates in punishment and in segregation. The protection of the institution and the rest of the population from an individual does not mean that he must be denied ordinary privileges.

(4) Set up a personnel system, either on a Statewide or on a departmental basis, which would include:

(a) Recruitment; (b) Selection; (c) Qualifications; (d) Training, preliminary and in-service; (e) Plans for participation in the management by the rank and file; (f) establishment of a liaison between the warden, the staff and the custody group; (g) Raise the salaries, improve the status and establish greater recognition for the dignity and importance of the office of prison officer; (h) These improvements will justify the insistence upon a higher caliber of men in the ranks.

(5) Enforce the rule as to the use of excessive force and restraining prisoners.

(6) Enforce the rule as to profane and indecent language.

(7) Increase the professional staff at the prison by employment of:
(a) A psychiatrist to give at least half time.
(b) A full-time psychologist working on his job and not somebody else's.
(c) Social workers or home visitors attached to the prison.
(d) An institutional parole officer to prepare prisoners for parole.
(e) A research and statistical department.
(f) Separate the functions of the record office and the welfare department.

(8) Set up in the central office of the Board of Control an office of Director of Penal and Correctional Affairs at a substantial salary, say $7,500 to $9,000. And in this connection attention must be given to the increase of the salaries in supervisory positions, not excluding the members of the State Board of Control themselves.

(9) Clarify and expedite the process of transferring psychotic prisoners to the State Hospital even if it is necessary to set up an enlarged criminal quarters at the State Hospital.

(10) Urge greater cooperation between the State Board of Control and the Board of Pardons and Parole in the selection of prisoners for release and their preparation therefor.

(11) Expand and interpret the work of classification so that it will be possible to study each individual prisoner and arrange a program best suited to his needs.

(12) Set up an educational system more realistic and more suitable for adults, especially concerned with the development of citizenship responsibility.

(13) More paid help are necessary in the hospital.

(14) Establish lines of communications from guards and other employees to supervisory, to warden, to the State Board of Control.

(15) Study into the advisability of an inmate advisory council with proper limitations and safeguards.

(16) Much greater use can be made of the mail room in affording a greater understanding of a prisoner's problems, his safe control, and his guidance towards rehabilitation.

5 Children Die In Fire

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP)—Five young children were killed Monday night in a fire that swept their two-story frame house in Saginaw.

Richard S. Gugel, Saginaw County coroner, identified the victims as:

Caroline Craion, 2; Juanita Johnson, 10; Betty Jane Pierce, 8; her brother Allen, 4; and her sister, Sherlee Laverne, 6.

Police said the fire broke out when Eugene Pierce, 29, father of three of the victims, kicked over an oil stove during a family argument. Fuel from the stove ignited and flames raced through the house, trapping the five victims.

Five adults, including the Pierce children's parents, and an infant brother and sister, escaped the blaze.

Reds Seek Time

'Positive Political Offensive' Asked By House Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional committee urged Monday that the United States launch immediately "a positive, bipartisan, political offensive" to counteract what it called a Communist plan for lulling the free world into inaction and starting World War III at a time of the Kremlin's choosing.

The committee concluded that Russia's "peaceful coexistence" talk is designed to gain time that will enable the Soviets to divide and destry free world alliances and pave the way for Red aggression.

"The time was never more opportune for the free world to initiate a bold, positive political offensive as the only course which gives reasonable hope for avoiding all-out war," the committee said.

Rep. Madden

Although the committee goes out of existence with the convening of the new Congress this week it recommended its work be continued and extended into other areas. Its investigations were concentrated on areas within the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe except for a special study of Latin America, centering on Guatemala.

Effective Underground

At a news conference in connection with publication of the committee report, one member, Rep. Madden (D-Ind), said an underground has been conducting effective counter espionage and sabotage in Soviet satellite countries. This comment referred to the group's recommendation that the spirit of resistance to Red rule "be encouraged and supported through the judicious use of funds already authorized" by Congress.

"A great deal of effective espionage is going on behind the Iron Curtain," Madden said at the news conference. "The underground is also doing effective work in sabotage."

Chairman Charles J. Kersten (R-Wis) said that if the Soviet Union were given time to "destroy the satellite nations" the result would be "a new generation of people anxious and frantic to destroy the free world—a worse danger than atom bombs."

Madden expressed doubt present regulations on trade in strategic materials with the Communist bloc were accomplishing their purpose.

"I think a lot of material is going behind the Iron Curtain that shouldn't," he said, declaring that only foodstuffs and other "materials needed from a humanitarian standpoint" should be sold the Red countries by the West.

335 Questioned

The committee has questioned 335 witnesses, many of them leaders of the former non-Communist governments of satellite countries, and collected more than 1,500 documents on the Communist takeover in Eastern Europe. It conducted 50 hearings in the United States and Europe.

Its report said that on a worldwide scale "peaceful coexistence" with the Soviet bloc has been advanced "as opposed to the single alternative of preventive war."

"The narrowing of this question to the definitive choice is a fallacy and one which serves Communism and its propaganda well," the report continued. It denounced the Russian coexistence line as a trick to divide the free world and said the Soviets would resort to armed aggression when they considered the time had come.

Madden elaborated on this point by saying, "no one is advocating war."

Teen-ager Stays Up; Discovers Kitchen Fire

A teen-age blonde, Mary Jane Deer, who was up pinning her hair while her family slept, discovered a kitchen fire and gave the alarm in time to prevent extensive damage late Monday night.

It happened at the W. C. Deer residence at 824 So. 9th.

The fire, caused by a cigarette in a milk carton according to firemen, burned kitchen curtains and scorched the walls.

McCarthy Rings Down Curtain

Brunette Surprise Witness

She Was Under 'Death Sentence' For Her FBI Underground Activity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) rang down the curtain on his investigating committee chairmanship Monday with surprise testimony from a brunette witness who said she was under a Communist "death sentence" for FBI undercover work.

The witness identified herself as Miss Mary Stella Beynon, 31, who told reporters later her own mother has never known she joined the Communist party in February, 1946, for the purpose, as she put it, of reporting its activities to the FBI.

Miss Beynon, chic and comely, named four Westinghouse Co. employes in the Pittsburgh area as Communists during her 15 months as a party member.

One of them, Theodore Wright, a Negro employed in the Westinghouse air brake plant at Wilmerding, Pa., took the stand and denied he is now a member of the Communist party. Wright refused to say on the ground of self-incrimination whether he ever had been a Communist.

Miss Beynon testified she was expelled from the party in May, 1947, when the Communists "got hold of one of my reports" to the FBI.

Told To Expect Death

She said Roy Hudson, then Communist party chairman for western Pennsylvania, "told me I wouldn't be killed that night but I was under death sentence."

A fast succession of witnesses at a day-long hearing of the Permanent Investigating subcommittee also brought to the stand Frank Nestler of Jeanette, Pa., who identified himself as a former Communist and named seven other Westinghouse employes as Communists.

His list overlapped Miss Beynon's. Together they named as Reds eight Pittsburgh area Westinghouse workers.

One of those named, Peter Lydon, admitted he had been a Communist and promised to tell the FBI all about it. Four others pleaded the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution. Three failed to answer subpoenas, and the committee voted to start contempt proceedings against them.

Last For McCarthy

Monday's session of the often turbulent committee was the last under McCarthy's chairmanship and the Wisconsin lawmaker smilingly wished his Democratic successor, Sen. McClellan of Arkansas, good luck.

"I guess this is my swan song," McCarthy commented.

"I don't have any gavel, John, to turn over to you," he added later, "but I hope you have a pleasant and happy two years."

At the end McCarthy made a little farewell talk to newsmen without mention of the Senate vote condemning some of his actions, the 1953 walkout of McClellan and other Democrats from the committee, or the other storms that have raged about the group.

The Wisconsin senator said he was stepping down "both with relief and with regret." He said he hoped and expected McClellan would continue "to dig out subversives as vigorously as we have in the past." And he said he would serve "as actively as I can" as senior minority member.

Monday's hearing wound up McCarthy's phase of the long-pending probe of alleged subversives in defense plants, but McClellan said the investigation will continue.

Internal Feud Threatens Tito Government

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP)—A Yugoslav domestic feud developed into a possible split—at least on the surface—in President Marshal Tito's Communist government.

Tito, on a state visit to India and Burma, was described by Foreign Secretary Koca Popovic in Calcutta as having no advance information about criminal proceedings filed last week against former Vice President Milovan Djilas and Parliament Deputy Vladimir Dedijer, Tito's biographer.

Both Djilas and Dedijer have been allowed to remain technically free after preliminary questioning on charges that they attempted to undermine the state. Both have been ordered by Belgrade's Circuit Court to remain silent until a verdict is reached.

No Consultation

In Calcutta, Popovic told a news conference the action started by Vice President Edvard Kardelj, acting chief of state, was taken "without consultation with Tito." The statement came as a surprise to many persons here.

If true, it might mark the greatest rift within the Yugoslav Communist party since Djilas was shorn of his office and ousted from the party a year ago after writing a series of articles criticizing government policies and accusing wives of officials of snubbing the actress bride of the army chief of staff, Col. Gen. Peko Dapcevic.

All three principles in the case—Djilas, Dedijer and Kardelj—were close associates of Tito in World War II. They fought together to liberate Yugoslavia from the Axis Powers and later worked together to capture control of the government.

Weekend Accidents Killed 361

By The Associated Press

The New Year's holiday weekend cost the nation at least 362 accident deaths—296 of them on streets and highways.

The traffic death toll was substantially less than that of Christmas weekend a week earlier when 392 were killed by motor vehicles. However, the Christmas traffic deaths and the over-all toll of 515 accident fatalities both set records for a two-day holiday period.

The 296 lives lost in traffic last weekend also far exceeded an estimate by the National Safety Council which said before the holiday cars would kill 240.

Commenting on the combined cost of 688 dead in traffic mishaps during the two 54-hour holiday periods, Ned H. Dearborn, Safety Council president, said it was "enough to make every decent American citizen sick at heart."

Dearborn said the deaths were caused by "relatively few people who are reckless, heedless, irresponsible, incompetent, selfish, or all of these."

He said, "The people will rise up and demand laws and enforcement that will chase these crazy drivers off the streets and highways."

The New Year weekend fatality survey showed 27 fire deaths throughout the nation—a sharp contrast to the 63 reported during the Christmas holiday. Both surveys covered the time from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

There were 39 deaths from miscellaneous accidents other than traffic and fire for the New Year period compared with 60 at Christmastime.

$200-$300 Taken From Halted Bus

Thieves stole between $200-$300 in accumulated holiday bus receipts from a strong box in the bus of a Huskerville Bus Lines, Inc., police said.

More than 65 pounds of dimes quarters and half dollars were toted away in the theft.

Police said the bus, which had broken down, was parked at 7th and J at the time of the theft.

Stock Market Soars To New Peak Levels

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market opened the new year Monday by soaring up to new peak levels with General Motors racing in front of the rise.

Gains of $1 to around $3 a share were frequent, and some stocks went on higher.

General Motors jumped up $7.25 at $105.12. It was the day's most active issue with 65,400 shares traded.

New Shares Planned

After the close of the stock market, the company announced plans to raise 325 million dollars by offering present stockholders the right to subscribe to one new share of stock for each 20 shares now held. The price of the new shares will be determined later.

During the day, Wall Street turned out a big crop of rumors as the stock climbed to a peak of $107.37 before subsiding. Among the rumors were a stock dividend, a stock split, or an antitrust action that might result in an eventual stock split. None proved to be true.

Du Pont, which owns some 20 million shares of General Motors common, closed $4 higher at $171.-50 after hitting a high of $175.75.

Same Party Leaders Will Be At Helm When Lawmakers Convene

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats and Republicans agreed today that the switch in party control of the 84th Congress, which meets Wednesday, will find the same leaders at the helm with titles exchanged.

Senate Majority Leader William Knowland (R-Calif) will continue as GOP floor leader in that body and take over the title of minority leader, now held by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex) who becomes majority leader.

In the House, Speaker Joseph W. Martin (R-Mass) will turn over his gavel to the veteran Rep. Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) and take Rayburn's title as minority leader.

Organization moves are subject to party caucuses and conferences that will be held Tuesday but no challenge to existing leaders has been started.

Democrats will hold only half of the 96 Senate seats but Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon, who bolted the Republicans and lists himself as an independent, has promised to vote with Democrats. He is expected to seek re-election in 1956 as a Democrat.

One Demo Vacancy

In the House the Democrats have 231 seats, Republicans 203 and there is one Democratic vacancy because of a death since election in November.

The veteran Sen. Walter George (D-Ga) is expected to be elected Senate president pro tempore, a job that makes him presiding officer of the Senate when Vice President Nixon is away. This post includes a big limousine and chauffeur.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), who held the office under Republican control, is expected to become chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee. This strategy post was held by Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich), defeated in November.

Aiding the new majority leader will be Sen. Earl Clements (D-Ky) as whip and Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr., as secretary of the Democratic conference.

Johnson is chairman of both the Democratic Policy Committee and its steering committee, which assigns Democrats to committees.

Millikin To Get Post

Republicans in the Senate expect to return Sen. Millikin of Colorado to chairmanship of the Republican Conference which includes all Republicans, and Sen. Milton Young of North Dakota, as secretary.

Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) will be GOP whip again if he wishes the post.

Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio) heads the Committee on Committees which hands out committee assignments for Republicans.

In the House, Rep. John W. McCormack (D-Mass) is expected to regain his post of majority leader while Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind), who held this post, will serve as an unofficial deputy to Martin.

The party shift in the Senate will bring a shuffling of top patronage jobs there.

Felton M. Johnston, who has been secretary to the Democrats, will take over as secretary of the Senate.

Joseph C. Duke, former sergeant at arms under Democrats, will return to this post.

Both the secretary and sergeant at arms receive $13,400 a year and are entitled to limousines and chauffeurs.

Central Greece And Sicily Are Shaken

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—Earthquakes of medium intensity jarred central Greece Monday afternoon, causing slight damage. One woman was injured.

The shocks were felt at Karditsa, Phanari and Sophades—which were partly destroyed by a quake in November, 1953—and were felt at Lamia and Volo.

In Sicily, panic returned to the Lipari Islands with new, continuous, and intensive earthquakes.

Tremors began at noon and were reported continuing five hours later. There were no immediate reports of damage.

Inaugural Ball Tradition Now Full Century Old

The governor's inaugural ball Thursday in honor of Governor and Mrs. Victor E. Anderson marks the continuation of a ceremony that dates back a century.

The first ball took place 100 years ago in Omaha, then capital of the territory. The newly appointed governor was Mark W. Izard. The ball was given the same night he arrived in Omaha.

The "affair" was held in a ballroom so cold there was ice on the floor. The guests, including nine women, sat on rude wood benches with their backs against a mud-plaster wall.

The inaugurals flourished and grew through the years. "Buffalo Bill" and his wife were guests at the 1239 ball.

Somewhat after the turn of the century the balls fell out of fashion and were not revived until the one in 1935 for Governor Roy Cochran and his wife. It was held at the University Coliseum, as will be the one Thursday.

Government Fired 3,002 As 'Risks'

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Civil Service Commission said Monday the Eisenhower administration has fired 3,002 federal employes as security risks. It said 5,006 others resigned while security checks were under way.

Of the total of 8,008, it said, 2,096 employes had varying amounts of subversive data chalked up against them in their files.

The report covered the period from May 18, 1953, when the Eisenhower security risk program went into effect, through last Sept. 30. It was released two days in advance of the opening of the new Congress, in which several Democrats plan to investigate the fairness and validity of the program.

4 Categories

There were four categories listed:

2,096 "whose files contained information indicating, in varying degrees, subversive activities, subversive associations, or membership in subversive organizations."

655 "whose files contained information indicating sex perversion."

2,649 "whose files contained information indicating conviction of felonies or misdemeanors."

4,417 "whose files contained any other type of information falling within the purview" of the program.

These four groups add up to more than 8,008 because some employes had information in their files falling under more than one category. Conceivably, a man might be listed as a Communist, a drunkard and a gossip—or just one of the three.

New Tractor Testing Mark Seen In 1955

The world-famous University of Nebraska Tractor Testing Laboratory has closed operations for 1954 and is looking forward to testing a record number of new tractor models in 1955.

Lester Larson, tractor testing engineer, said 16 different models were tested in 1954. This brings the total models tested since the laboratory was founded up to 531.

Small and large tractors were put through their paces during the year. They varied in size from small "pony" types up to a 154 horsepower crawler-type job. One foreign made tractor was tested and is now being sold in California.

Larson said of the 16 models tested, eight were diesels. He noted a trend toward more diesel-powered tractors on the market.

One tractor tested in 1954 set a new record of the laboratory in the way of fuel efficiency. It developed 15.78 horsepower for each gallon of fuel per hour.

Texas Land Probe Official Is Threatened

CUERO, Tex. (AP)—The attorney general of Texas was threatened Monday with "a bullet in the back of the head" if he continues to probe Texas' veterans' land sales scandals.

The threat was telephoned to Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd's home in Austin, the state capital.

Mrs. Shepperd was described as temporarily "hysterical" after she was told of the threat by a maid who took the call.

Gov. Allan Shivers promised a thorough investigation. State police were at the home minutes after the call.

Shivers said the threat was "probably the work of some prankster or someone with a warped mentality" but said "it will cause a full investigation to be made."

Shepperd, with an assistant attorney general, Sam Ratliff, was closeted with the Dewitt County grand jury here at the time, probing the land sales.

Crash Kills Dianna Bixby, Noted Flier

. . . Body Recovered

LONG BEACH, Calif (INS) —The body of Dianna Bixby, noted Long Beach aviatrix, was removed Monday from the wreckage of her converted A-20 bomber by a navy diver 24 hours after she ran out of fuel on a flight to Baja California.

Her grieving husband, Robert, 41, with whom she once made an unsuccessful effort to fly around the world, was at the scene when the body was found about 150 feet offshore in the Gulf of California.

She had run out of fuel and crashed during a flight Sunday to Los Panos Ranch, near La Paz. Bixby was following his wife in a DC-3, trailing her about an hour and a half, when she radioed that she was out of gas, had spotted a place to land and was going down.

Futile Search

Bad weather, which forced Mrs. Bixby to pass up a refueling stop at Santa Rosalia earlier, hampered Bixby while he made a futile search of the area.

Bixby finally flew back to Long Beach. He took off again for lower California when radio amateurs in Kansas City and Loreto, Mexico, near the scene of the wreckage and about 700 miles south of San Diego reported the missing plane had been located.

A coast Guard plane from San Diego followed Bixby, carrying Navy diver James Watkins and Mrs. Bixby's father, E. E. Converse of Long Beach.

The tragedy that cost Mrs. Bixby her life occurred while she and her husband were flying from Long Beach to pick up air freight cargoes.

In a safe burglary at the Industrial Electric Co., early Monday, robbers escaped with $348.

Judge Rules Out New Trial Plea In Sheppard Case

CLEVELAND (AP)—Judge Edward Blythin Monday overruled a motion for a new trial for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, osteopath convicted of slaying his wife, Marilyn.

The motion the judge ruled on was based on a contention by Dr. Sheppard's attorneys that there were 41 errors in the 10-week trial at which the osteopath was convicted of second degree murder.

Still to be heard is a motion by the chief defense counsel, William J. Corrigan, for a new trial on the basis of "newly discovered evidence." Judge Blythin, at a hearing last Thursday, said he would hear that motion Jan. 8.

Judge Blythin, who presided at the trial which ended Dec. 21, has sentenced Dr. Sheppard to life in prison. Sheppard would not be eligible for parole for at least 10 years under that sentence.

The body of Marilyn Sheppard, 31, was found on a blood-soaked bed July 4 at their lakefront home in suburban Bay Village.

Dr. Sheppard, who marked his 31st birthday in jail, has insisted she was hacked to death by a bushy-haired intruder.

Seaton Heads Team Seeking More Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon is leaning heavily on a team headed by Assistant Defense Secretary Seaton to win Congressional approval of one of the most far - reaching defense legislative programs in years.

As assistant secretary for legislative and public affairs, the Nebraska publisher and former Senator wears two hats—one when he is dealing with the general public through the press and radio, and the other when he is trying to win friends and influence opinion among his former colleagues in Congress.

New Charter

The Defense Department last summer gave Seaton a new charter of operations in order to spell out his duties. He was specifically charged with coordinating all presentations to Congress by military services, and, working with other Pentagon "vice presidents," he was given the task of lining up all of the measures which the Defense Department would like to see translated into law.

On the legislative side, Seaton is assisted by former New York Congressman Robert Ross and by Lorne Kennedy, former Omaha newspaperman who came to the Pentagon two months ago. Kennedy had previously served as an administrative assistant in turn to Senators Wherry, Seaton, Griswold and Bowring of Nebraska.

Figures Shocking Early In '54

Downward Traffic Death Trend Coincided With Official Assault

By ODELL HANSON
Associated Press Writer

A dramatic mid-year reversal of Nebraska's traffic death trend, coming at a time when highway slaughter appeared headed for a shocking new record, highlighted the traffic safety year in Nebraska in 1954.

The change - about coincided with a new and almost unprecedented assault on the problem at the state level.

Starting on June 1, the traffic forces of the State Safety Patrol were increased.

Just about the same time, Gov. Robert. Crosby's Traffic Safety Committee was swinging into action.

As if on signal, the soaring curve of traffic deaths swung the other way.

"It was," says Gov. Crosby, "a clear indication of the lives that can be saved, the injuries and damage that can be avoided by aiming at two objectives, better public education and better law enforcement."

Lives Are Saved

Just how many lives have been saved as a result of the turnabout is difficult to measure. But this much is known:

Had the trent apparent in the first five months of the year continued, Nebraska's traffic deaths would have run about 41 per cent ahead of 1953—a mathematical total of more than 480.

Barring belated reports, the actual total for 1954 was 325, or 18 under the total for the previous year.

The year 1953 had been Nebraska's worst to date, with 343 traffic deaths recorded. And 1954 started as if it intended to eclipse that mark completely.

In January and February, 54 fatalities were recorded — exactly double the number for the same period of 1953. At the end of March, deaths were running 31 per cent ahead of the previous year.

By June 1, fatalities numbered 119-35 more than 1953, an increase of 41 per cent.

Four Steps Listed

The abrupt switch in trend which occurred at this point can be credited to four steps, Gov. Crosby says:

1. The executive order which turned truck weighing and driver license examination chores over to the State Highway Department, thus freeing the equivalent of 26 Safety Patrolmen for road duty.
2. The use of radar in patrol traffic enforcement.
3. Employment of spotter planes to tag offending drivers.
4. The work of the governor's Traffic Safety Committee.

The enforcement attack on the traffic safety problem grew out of an April get - together of Gov. Crosby and Col C. J. Sanders, Patrol chief. Given more men for road duty, Col. Sanders said then, he could almost promise improvement.

Because the patrol's budget did not permit employment of more men, the device of shifting duties to the Highway Department was conceived.

More Drivers Caught

From June through November, the Patrol handed out 41 per cent more tickets, warnings or summonses than it did in the corresponding period of 1953.

D—Day for the educational assault on the problem came on May 22, when Gov. Crosby formally proclaimed a "state of emergency."

While his Traffic Safety Committee assembled in Grand Island for its first session, Crosby called on motorists to join in an "all-out attack on the shocking waste of human life and property occurring on our highways."

"I feel that Nebraska's highway fatality rate warrants emergency action," he declared, "and as governor I intend to employ every means at my command to stop this tragic, brutal slaughter."

Eight days later the added patrolmen went on duty.

The net result was amazing.

In June, deaths dropped to 17, compared with 29 in the same month in 1953. July brought a drop from 42 to 34. August saw a momentary setback, with 40 deaths recorded compared with 37 in 1935. But September more than made up for it with almost a 50 per cent reduction from the previous year.

News Media Praised

Each month thereafter saw an improvement over the previous year.

"It's almost impossible to say just what brought about this change," acknowledges Col Sanders. "But we know it took place and we know, too, that the job couldn't have been done without the terrific amount of help given by the media — the newspapers, radio and TV stations."

The experiment with tougher traffic low enforcement appears likely to result in a request to the Legislature to increase the Patrol force for the next biennium. While not disclosing details. Gov. Crosby said his budget recommendations will "implement" the credit he gives the Patrol for the traffic improvement record.

Proposed Center Would Aid State's Handicapped Children

OMAHA (AP) — A center for rehabilitation and schooling of Nebraska's physically handicapped children was proposed Monday.

It would be located on the University of Nebraska College of Medicine campus.

A group of scholl and university officials, certain members of the Legislature, physicians, state and local organizations interested in improving opportunities for handicapped children joined in the proposal.

Omaha School Superintendent Harry A. Burke released a report census of the various interested persons.

It called for a school to be built by the Omaha School Board on land acquired by the state.

The school would educate about 200 handicapped children including outstate youngsters admitted on a tuition basis. It would also serve as a training center for occupational and physical therapists under college of medicine direction.

Excellent Program, Tollman Comments

Lincoln Star Special

OMAHA — "This type of proposal would offer better facilities" for training both physicians and therapists, Dr. J. P. Tollman, dean of the College of Medicine, said.

It is an excellent program, he said, and would allow the college to train more persons in therapy work.

The present facilities allow training to be done only through work in out-patient clinics.

Dean Tollman said University officials had been working with the group interested in establishing such a center.

Remon's Assassination

Close associates of President Jose Remon of Panama indicated that he was aware of a plot against his life but paid no attention to it. His assassination came at a time when generally discussion emphasized an encouraging improvement in conditions the world over. It cut short the life of a young man—Remon was 46—only 44 when two years ago he took over the government following the overthrow of his predecessor. Prior to that, Remon had headed Panama's armed police for a decade, a strong man heading up the administration of affairs of a typically volatile South American republic.

The circumstances back of Remon's assassination still were indistinct but it appeared that instead of a Communist plot, the Panama president's death could be charged to the act of a fanatic.

This latest outbreak in Panama cannot other than arouse anxiety. While Americans have become inured to the swift changes that occur in these South American republics, they likewise recognize that whatever contributes to unrest among those peoples merits attention.

Right To Know

Offhand it appears that Nebraska's Unicameral Legislature transacts more of its business out in the open so people may know what is going on than any other legislative body in the United States. The absence of the conference committee may be responsible for this good record.

There is an increasing disposition the country over to turn the key in the lock when it comes to legislation and to pull the blinds down.

One of the measures which may be reopened in the 84th Congress is the tax bill. It originated in the House, where all tax legislation must be considered first. At no time during committee hearings on the tax bill was the press present. This was particularly true when notes were to be taken. The practice was to give out statements on what happened after the deliberations were concluded.

If any single bit of legislation was of individual interest, it was the tax bill. It is not difficult to understand why Congress sticks to the closed committee meeting where matters of national security are involved. But in the mine-run of affairs touching purely on domestic matters, the right to know becomes dominant.

This impending 84th Congress could make one oustanding contribution. If in its wisdom it decided that public interest would be better served by liberalizing the practices which defeat the right to know, then it would make a most valuable contribution.

Prosperity For 1955

There were not many pessmists around on New Year's Day among the observers and economists who looked at America's 1955 with an eye to how it would be in terms of prosperity.

Most of them expect a good year with adequate employment, satisfactory markets and economic growth.

No one wishes to take issue with bearers of good news and there are not many pronouncements more welcome than to hear that free America—the target of all the destructive force the Communist world can bring to bear—grows annually bigger and better and stronger. Forecasts of greater prosperity must be dismal news to Red leadership.

But in the all-around good prognosis, there are thoughtful factors.

One of them is indicated by Commentator Marquis Childs today elsewhere on this page. He noted that the 1955 America would not bring agriculture as much return as heretofore. He noted that in 1951 farm income was $14.5 billion. In 1952 it was $13.6 billion. In 1953 it was $13.3 billion. In 1954 it was $12.5 billion. The decline will continue in 1955.

Of this he observed that "the disparity between rising industrial output and prices and falling farm income was one of the reasons for the bust that ended the boom of the 1920's in 1929."

To the casual observer the constant return to the subject of the relationship of agriculture and farm income to the general economy lacks clarity. He is inclined to ask, "Why since the farmer seems to be feeling little pain, and why since agricultural production is but one of the factors of national income, is there so much emphasis on farming and a healthy national economy. "Why is there always the assumption that the economy is in danger when agriculture slips?"

The answer, of course is complex. But there is one truth in it that is clear and simple.

It isn't so much that the individual farmer must be prosperous. Rather it is that what is produced on the farm each year is new wealth —like other annual grants of nature such as come from underground and from the elements and from the forests above the ground. It is the new wealth that is pumped into the national economy each year upon which trade and industry feed and flourish. If it is not introduced into the economy at a price relationship consistent with general economic good health the whole structure is hurt. Underpricing in its own way is as dangerous as underproduction for it means fewer dollars to balance out that national economy which must have an adequate number of dollar to stay in business.

Of Men And Things

By J. E. LAWRENCE

Details of the President's proposal for the biggest highway program ever undertaken in the United States probably will be outlined to Congress in these early days of January. Until then, one can only guess. Preliminary discussion of the projected 10-year one-hundred-billion-dollar development has placed emphasis upon a federal-state partnership.

★

So far as Nebraska is concerned, it has no bonded debt—one of the proudest boasts of its people—and it has a constitutional provision which bans public debt on the part of the state government. That is a tradition of which we are very proud, most of us, with what we believe to be good reason. Nebraska is the sole exception among the 48 states of the Union. Our ban against debt could be put to an acid test in the developing highway program. That program has not emerged yet from the most obscure, shadowy blueprint. There has been some talk, none of it coming from an offical source, that if $100 billion is to be spent on highway construction in a long-range 10-year program, the local political subdivisions—the states and municipalities—will be expected to raise half of the funds. If that turns out to be the case, then Nebraska would find itself in a tough box. Where would it get its millions to match federal funds in this massive new highway program earmarked for the state?

Nebraska's Ban On Debt

★

There is a lot of sense in the old adage not to cross bridges until you come to them. There will be time after President Eisenhower places his plan before Congress to figure out what to do. Until the President and Congress fill in the details, the exact nature of the highway program is a matter of guesswork.

★

Nebraska's need for highways may be more or less acute than it is in other states—we are inclined to think it is more—but more important, there is a very genuine need for an accelerated program of construction. Other states found it possible to make more rapid progress because they were not handicapped by a ban on debt. Our neighbor to the east, Iowa, issued bonds for road-building and the same example was followed in a great many states. Here the highway program was restricted to the principle of "pay-as-you-go." Many Nebraskans may feel that the state's debt limitation crippled us. That is one way to look at it. But that debt limitation also helped Nebraska. It covered an experimental period when new standards of construction were being established, standards relating to visibility, grades, durability and other technical details, all of which have been responsible for marked improvement in road-building. Had we embarked upon a huge program years ago, we would be in the position of undoing some of the construction which met earlier standards but no longer is considered adequate. The conservative spirit with which we approached Nebraska's highway program averted the mistakes of an experimental period and contributed the savings made possible through experience.

Nebraska's Need Great

★

The projected highway program will give the American people a clearcut understanding of what is meant by a federal-state partnership. If that is the approach ultimately decided upon, then Nebraska faces highway expenditures not yet contemplated, expenditures financed either by additional gas tax revenues or other taxes, or a change in the debt policy. There has been a great deal of talk in recent years against dollar-matching. The state, it has been said, can do a better job on its own steam. The $100 billion highway program would provide a magnificent test.

Nebraska's Capitol

If any Nebraskan is qualified to tell of Nebraska's capitol, that individual is Col. Harry F. Cunningham. He has completed a booklet dealing with it, a public service in a very genuine sense, a booklet handsomely illustrated and well written. Col. Cunningham, it will be recalled, was a member of the achitectural staff of the late Bertram Goodhue, the capitol architect responsible for what has been described as one of the world's 10 finest buildings. Presently he is serving as a member of the Capitol Murals Commission in the role of professional adviser to the group. Obviously Mr. Cunningham occupied a seat to qualify him to tell the story of the planning and the symbolic thinking associated with the planning and development of the building. His booklet is valuable not only to visitors from other states but equally so to Nebraskans.

Near East TVA

Eric Johnston, President Eisenhower's special representative, will fly to the Near East for the third time for the same purpose.

He is trying to sell Israel and its Arab neighbors on a Near-East version of the TVA. The administration is convinced that what that region needs is water management plus cheap and abundant electric power.

One joins the administration in wishing economic and social improvement for the poverty stricken, needy Near East. But one cannot overlook the contrast between what the administration feels is good for the Near East and not good for the United States. It views the American TVA as creeping socialism and has given force to moves that would trim it back.

The administration should show more consistency. A good principle can be expected to work universally and a bad principle, if it really is bad, will not bring forth good fruit anywhere. The administration as well as the nation should make up its mind.

GOP Squeeze Is On Ike To Run Again

WASHINGTON — Two series of backstage conferences have been taking place in Washington which may spell out whether the President runs—and is elected—for a second term.

The most important conference was held in the White House with Ike's closest friends and advisers. The other conferences have been held by the Democrats over the question of whether they should make the President himself their main target for attack.

Various reports have come out of the White House regarding the recent stag dinner which put the heat on Ike to run again. One report emanating from the office of Vice President Nixon stated that Eisenhower had agreed to run and that Nixon had been picked to run with him.

This was wrong on both counts. First, Eisenhower did not agree to run; second, not a word was mentioned about Nixon being his running mate. In fact, Nixon sat on the sidelines during the dinner discussion and hardly opened his mouth. The story which his office later fed to the United Press was a carefully laid plant.

What actually happened, as pieced together from various reliable sources, was that Ike's friends did lay down a terrific barrage of persuasion that he run again. He listened, seemed impressed, made no promises. At one point, he remarked:

"You're making it awfully tough on me."

But that was as far as he went.

☆ ☆ ☆

Those at the dinner included GOP Chairman Len Hall, Attorney General Brownell, U.N. Delegate Cabot Lodge, Williams E. Robinson of the Robinson-Hannagan public relations firm; Tracy Voorhees, assistant secretary of war under Truman, now a vigorous Ike rooter; and many of the original pre-Chicago "I Like Ike" boosters.

Each one took his turn urging the President to run, telling him no one else could win, appealing to his sense of duty. One remarked: "We can see that you're in magnificent health." Another remarked: "Your popularity is as high as ever."

Attorney General Brownell finally produced a clipping quoting Adlai Sevenson to the effect that he couldn't beat Ike as of today. The President perked up at this, asked to keep the clipping.

It was after this barrage that the President remarked his friends were making it tough on him.

While Eisenhower definitely did not agree to run, he did agree to make no announcement regarding his intentions until after Congress adjourns. This was in response to a suggestion that he could control Congress better if he kept Congress guessing and if GOP diehards thought he would run.

There was also considerable discussion about broadening the Republican party's appeal, since they could not rely on Ike's popularity forever.

☆ ☆ ☆

WANTED: "DYNAMIC PARTY"

The President himself spoke at length about bringing in young blood—new dynamic candidates—and about party harmony.

He used the word "dynamic" several times in describing the kind of party he wants. The way to build this "dynamic" party, it was agreed, was to work within the framework of the present GOP machinery—They must avoid a break with the old guard.

Ike urged everyone to go out and work for party harmony. The best way of increasing public appeal for the GOP, he said, was to steer a course down the middle of the road. Eisenhower policy, therefore, was to be liberal with the people, conservative with the economy, international in foreign policy.

The Republican watchword would continue to be Ike's phrase, "progressive moderation."

Though the meeting did not succeed in getting a decision from Ike on running again, it was privately decided by the participants that they would not only keep plugging on the subject, but would start a carefully planned draft-Eisenhower movement in the spring.

☆ ☆ ☆

Democratic strategy meetings have been concerned with the fact that if Eisenhower is to be the candidate, then it's time for the Democrats to take off the gloves and show up his weak points. Almost everyone agrees on this except Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

"In baseball," summarized one top Democrat after a conference, "a man in the pitcher's box is credited with loss of a game or a win. He's responsible. But the Republicans have managed to create the impression that Ike is a nice man surrounded by a ball team which does things he doesn't know about—that he's not responsible.

"That may be true. But he's the pitcher, and he's the man really responsible for the loss or the win. If the team around him fumbles, it's up to him to remove them. It's up to him to find out what they are doing, not go around blissfully ignorant.

"The fact that Ike didn't know Mrs. Hobby had fired Mrs. Spaulding, the Negro woman of the year, is no excuse. The President of the United States must either know these things or appoint people he can trust."

The above argument represents the definite thinking of new Democratic Chairman Paul Butler, of Vice Chairman Clayton Fritchey; of Adlai Stevenson, speaker Sam Rayburn, and ex-President Truman.

However, they have run up against one snag. Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas, with his ear to Texas Republicrats, still believes in pulling punches.

"Lyndon wants to be the leader," cracked one Democrat, "but doesn't want to lead."

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Lamar Caudle went down to Ocean Drive, S. C., just after Hurricane Hazel hit and couldn't even locate his former beach cottage. Not a stick of furniture, not a sign of the building except the toilet bowl. The entire 22-mile row of beach houses had gone, except for row upon row of white toilets. The plumbing anchored them to the ground . . . DORIS FLEESON

Ike And Mitchell Get Political Bug

WASHINGTON—Two men who entered national politics as complete amateurs at the same time two years ago are showing how the great game inevitably takes hold of those who taste its fruits of power.

One, President Eisenhower, is now disclosed to have been lecturing his close associates about the necessity of building up attractive young GOP presidential possibilities for the future. He had his list ready, all either friendly governors or men from the second level of his administration.

This assumption of responsibility for the Republican future has appeared before in the still rather generalized Eisenhower conversations about his progressive-moderate philosophy. The new list named people and is a further and long step away from the President's original notion that he could serve as a kind of head of state.

☆ ☆ ☆

It included Governors Langlie of Washington, Kohler of Wisconsin and Craig of Indiana, Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers and Deputy Secretary of Defense Anderson.

It is not quite the list the professionals would draw up and it was a failure of tact on the President's part not to select for it some of the men in House and Senate on whom he must rely—for example, Rep. Halleck of Indiana, whose pro-Eisenhower leadership of the GOP House majority was brilliant, but the Eisenhower interest, especially with its implication that he has accepted the yoke of party leader, will be welcomed everywhere but in the extreme GOP right wing.

☆ ☆ ☆

The idea itself is sound politics. The President has perceived or has been reminded that few if any potential successors loom among his cabinet members and administrative heads who are getting today's headlines. They are business men, not elective office material. It was always possible that one or more would prove to have the touch, but none has.

The great sameness of the Eisenhower administrators and the emphasis on teamwork and getting along with Congress have combined to keep down the personal publicity that attracts political attention. They may be rather generally respected, but they are not characters attracting warmth, amusement, love, hate, interest and curiosity.

Of them all, the country probably knows Secretary of Defense Wilson best, and that is because of his famous bloomers, including bird dogs and kennel dogs, plus the earthy way in which he responds to criticism. As Harry S. Truman proved, the better minds in the capital are censorious of earthiness but the people seem to like it.

☆ ☆ ☆

The other amateur-turned-professional with great plans is Stephen A. Mitchell, retiring Democratic national chairman. Mitchell is not returning to private practice of law because he is tired of politics; on the contrary, visions of sugar plums dance in his head.

He hopes and expects to play a leading part in three important elections where the power stakes are among the highest in U.S. politics.

He will act as a bridge between the professional politicians and the large amateur Adlai Stevenson camp in an effort to renominate and elect Stevenson president in 1956. He will plunge immediately into the three-way Chicago mayoralty fight to help a Stevenson protege, County Clerk Richard J. Daley, to victory. In his spare time, he will work on the candidacy of Stephen A. Mitchell for governor of Illinois, possibly in 1956.

MARQUIS CHILDS

U.S. Optimistic For 1955

WASHINGTON— Almost without exception the year-end prognosticators are saying that 1955 will be a prosperous year. The forecasts are for a margin of sales and profits that will exceed '54 by, in most estimates, a small margin.

Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks predicts a "moderate upswing" in business activity. But the Wall Street journal reports that the key American industry, automobile manufacture, is booming. With the brilliantly-colored new models introduced earlier than before, factory sales for November were double those of October and they were 31 per cent ahead of sales for November, 1953.

If these optimistic forecasts prove correct, employment should rise somewhat from the present figure of nearly 62,000,000.

On the business of inventories some of the more cautious prophets, however, are forecasting prosperity with reservations. They agree that the first four or five months of '55 will be unqualifiedly prosperous, with industry approaching even boom-time records. But when the shelves have been filled up, they raise a question mark about the last half of the year.

☆ ☆ ☆

There is another question mark on the economic horizon and that has to do with the consequences of the wage and security demands to be made by the United Auto Workers when their contract with General Motors expires in May. Here again, what happens in the key industry may be reflected throughout the economy.

The UAW has spelled out a series of demands that add up to an estimated increase of 40 cents an hour. Included is the demand for a guaranteed annual wage for all workers in the industry. If the full amount of the increase is applied to the entire auto industry, the wage bill would go up about a half-billion dollars a year.

As with previous wage increases, the cost would be added to the price tags of cars, trucks and tractors. And it is just here that doubts arise about the longer future. Industrial prices have been constantly going up while the income of an important group of consumers—the farmers—has been steadily falling. The disparity between rising industrial output and falling farm income was one of the reasons for the bust that ended the boom of the '20's in 1929.

☆ ☆ ☆

The Department of Agriculture estimates farm income for '54 at $12.5 billions. For 1951 farm income was $14.5 billions, for '52 it was $13.6, and in '53 the total was $13.3.

Agriculture is proportionately a less-important factor in the economy than it was in the '20s. Nevertheless, a decline in the capacity of the farmer to buy the products of industry raises the old argument about the volume of purchasing power essential to keep goods moving off the shelves. Aggressive unions, such as the UAW and others in the CIO, have leaned heavily on this argument to support their demands for higher wages.

The CIO in its official forecast for next year declares that the improvement of recent months can be sustained and expanded in '55 only if "consumer spending rises substantially." There is no indication. The forecast says, of a return to full employment. Government spending—federal, state and local—it notes, has slipped an annual $11 billions since mid-1953 and is expected to drop further in '55.

☆ ☆ ☆

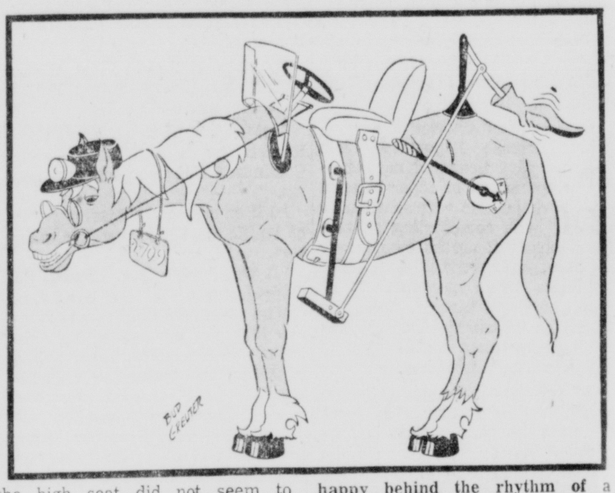

When they talk privately, officials of the Eisenhower administration express even greater confidence than they do in their public pronouncements. They can see nothing that will interfere with the present high level of prosperity through 1956. This is, of course, on the assumption that President Eisenhower will be successful in steering a course for peace as he has undertaken to do.

These confident men brush aside the doubts and reservations about full employment. They talk about the natural expansion of the economy which will produce more jobs in the months ahead. And they point to factors such as the great new highway program projected by the President.

In economic forecasting there has always been a sort of broad division between the optimists and the pessimists, the division being often one of temperament and politics as much as economics. At the present moment the pessimists must peer into the distant future, although among them are those who predict that if the economy merely stands still new workers coming into the labor market in the current year will increase the total of the unemployed to 4 million.

Slower Life Meant Fun For Boys

The old horse moved stolidly through the downtown traffic, unconcerned, for all the world as if he belonged there and times had not changed.

I heard him before I turned. The clip-clop of his shod hooves on the city pavement, the squeak of the light box wagon behind him, they were like echoes out of years ago. The old wagon with its high canvas top and its roll-up curtains looked self-conscious among the gleaming low-slung automobiles that scurried by it, but the old horse plodded confidently along, disdaining them.

Three boys stopped by the corner and one turned excitedly to the other, pointing, and yelled, "Hey, lookit! A horse and buggy!"

The old wagon wasn't a buggy, but the boy was too young to know that. He could probably name you the make of an automobile by the look of its grillwork, but an old spring wagon was a buggy to him, and the chances are he could have given the same name to a cart or a coach.

☆ ☆ ☆

A traffic light changed to red and the old horse stopped without seeming to notice. The old man on the high seat did not seem to notice, either, but sat staring across the tops of the automobiles, appearing not to see them, holding the reins loosely.

"Boy, I betcha it'd be fun to ride one o' them wagons," another of the boys said.

It was fun, I wanted to tell him. It was fun in the night for a sleepy boy, going to sleep on the blankets in the wagon bed to the sound of a horse's hooves, to the sound of a wagon's creaking. It was fun, awakening sleepily to feel the wagon move again through the gate, and to be coming home. That was a long time ago, when there weren't many automobiles, and the ones there were didn't have the low sleekness of today. But it was fun.

It was fun, too, even when the sleepy boy was older, to see the old icewagon turn a far corner in a little town, and to run with the other boys to clamber warily across the tailgate, to snatch up chips of ice from the great blocks in the wagon bed, and to scamper away while the iceman shouted terrible warnings which, somehow, he never put into action.

The downtown traffic light changed, and the old horse moved off without so much as a flick of his ear, and still the old man on the high seat did not seem to notice. "Yah," yelled the third boy, "get a truck!"

The old horse moved through the traffic, unconcerned. The three boys trotted away, on their way to a movie house. I walked away, too, thinking how fast the world is moving, how fast it was moving even in those days when a boy could go to sleep in a wagon bed, happy behind the rhythm of a horse's hooves.

The old horse and the old wagon turned a corner, and I began to hurry, not to be late at the office. The world is still moving fast; they will pass a law one of these days to keep the old horse and the old wagon off the downtown streets.

They make the traffic go too slow.

Orange Bowl Game

Blair, Neb.

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: Another Orange Bowl game is history. Nebraska played like a bunch of well-fed, sun-drenched kittens. The outcome was never in doubt from the opening whistle.

This was a typical "Glassford-coached Nebraska team." There was no finesse—no determination—no co-ordination—no plays—nothing. All Duke had to do was to play football as if they wanted to win, which they did.

Nebraska will never have a championship team under Glassford. After six years of his dynasty, he refuses to think a Nebraska boy capable of being a first-string quarterback. Oddly, we always had quite a few before Mr. Glassford. DEWEY NEMETZ

Sec. Benson Confident Congress Will Give Flexible Farm Plan An Opportunity To Work

Period Of Years Trial 'At Least' Is Hoped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson expressed confidence Monday night that the new Congress will give his flexible farm price support program "an opportunity" to work. He said he hopes it will "be tried out for a period of years at least."

But some congressmen have said they will try to overturn the new crop proposal approved by the last Congress to take effect this year, and Benson said he fully expects such an effort to restore high, rigid supports to be made.

His belief that the effort will fail, the secretary said in a recorded radio interview—Mutal's Reporters' Roundup—was based on a feeling that the November elections "indicated increasing support for the flexible principle."

He said the new program, which permits supports to drop from the present rigid supports of 90 per cent of parity to 75 per cent, had support from both Democrats and Republicans in the last Congress.

The secretary said that although he feels his department should have the authority to drop supports to 75 per cent of parity "that doesn't necessarily mean we will go to 75. It's conceivable that prices may remain right near 90."

Parity is a measure of farm prices considered fair to the farmer in relation to the prices he must pay.

Discussing the farm outlook for this year, the secretary said he expected 1955 farm prices "will remain close to the level of the latter part of 1954."

"We expect food supplies, fiber supplies will be in great quantities and there may be some slight reduction in total income due to the acreage restrictions, particularly on wheat and cotton," he said. "However, there will be some decline, we feel, in the prices which farmers have to pay for some of their supplies. These will tend to balance out so we anticipate that the situation in 1955 will be very much the same as it was in 1954."

No Press Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower will not hold a news conference this week, the White House announced.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said a meeting with newsmen, usually held on Wednesday, is being skipped this week because the President's State of the Union message will go to Congress on Thursday.

Joe Urges Action By Ag Chief On Prices

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) Monday urged Secretary of Agriculture Benson to take action toward bolstering farm prices which McCarthy said have dropped to "an all-time low since 1941."

A continuing decrease in farm income would bring about another depression, McCarthy declared.

The Wisconsin senator wrote Benson he was "very much alarmed and disturbed to read that the ratio of prices for farm products had dropped 2 per cent."

The Agriculture Department reported last week that farm prices for crops and livestock declined two per cent during the month ended Dec. 15. As a result, the department said, farm returns dipped from 87 to 86 per cent of parity, lowest since just before World War II.

His Wages

Parity is a level declared by law to be fair to farmers in relation to the cost of things they must buy.

In what appeared to be an indirect reference to word that President Eisenhower will seek an increase in the legal minimum wage from the present 75 cents an hour to a reported 90 cents, McCarthy added:

"As you know, the price that the farmer receives from his products represents his wages. At a time when higher wages are being urged for those in all other segments of our society, it would seem not only ridiculous but dangerous to allow the farmers' wages to continue to drop.

"I strongly feel it is high time for everyone in high places to take a greater interest in seeing that the farmers and dairymen get a better deal by receiving a larger share of the national income."

City Go Ahead On New Sewer For Havelock

The City Council has approved the preparation by outside local engineers of plans and specifications for an estimated $220,000 storm sewer project in Havelock.

The work will be farmed out to Hoskins & Associates to relieve the city's engineering department for other work. Hoskins will be paid a fee of 3 per cent of the cost of the project or $6,600 on the estimated cost of the Havelock job.

Work is expected to start by Hoskins on Tuesday. The sewer will run from 63rd and Burlington, across Havelock Ave. through the Havelock park and terminate at 66th and Kearney.

The Council has approved a resolution authorizing investment of $1.2 million in storm sewer bond money. With settlement of the bond sale this week, the money will be invested in 90-day government securities.

GOP Pleased With State Of Union Talk Preview

Enactment Of President's Program Is Predicted

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower gave GOP congressional leaders a complete "preview" of the State of the Union Message he will deliver to the Democratic-controlled Congress Thursday and the Republicans predicted enactment of his program.

The GOP conference was conducted at the White House as Democratic and Republican legislators swarmed back to Capitol Hill to set the stage for the formal opening of the 84th Congress at noon (EST) Wednesday.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland declared after the two and one-half hour conference that there was "general agreement" among the GOP chiefs that the President's program would win the country's approval.

Knowland, spokesman for the Capitol Hill delegation which conferred with the chief executive and his cabinet, said there would be "few surprises" in the state of the Union Message.

Rep. Charles Halleck (R-Ind), outgoing House majority leader, said: "It is a very good message. Most of it will be enacted."

'Excellent'

Rep. Leslie Arends (R-Ill), GOP whip, said: "The country is going to like the message." Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass), called the draft of the President's annual report on the state of the nation "excellent" and termed the conference "very helpful."

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.), said he was most impressed with the sections of the message dealing with national security and the nation's economic welfare. Bridges said the President's blueprint should receive bipartisan support "in most instances."

House Republican leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., said: "It is a fine, comprehensive message. I'm sure a large part of it will have the support of the House and Senate and will be welcomed by the people everywhere."

Mr. Eisenhower, rested and relaxed by an 11-day vacation at Augusta, Ga., was ready for the crucial second half of his administration, in which he must face a Congress under opposition control and eyeing the 1956 presidential election.

Further Sessions

Democrats were excluded from the White House "preview" of the State of the Union Message, but administration spokesmen pointed out that leaders of the new majority party already have been consulted on foreign and defense policy and that there will be further bipartisan sessions.

Before the legislative conference, the President talked privately with Rep. Daniel A. Reed, N. Y., senior republican on the tax-writing house ways and means committee.

Reed told newsmen he talked with Mr. Eisenhower on a "personal" matter and denied there had been any discussion of taxes, tariffs, or other legislation.

Besides the State of the Union report, in which Mr. Eisenhower will present in broad outline his legislative aims on foreign and domestic issues for 1955, the President will submit a number of special messages this month.

These include: foreign trade, Jan. 10; federal pay boosts and postal rate increases, Jan. 11; military pay and the new defense manpower program, Jan. 13; the budget message, Jan. 17; the economic report, Jan. 20; the health program, Jan. 24, and the multi-billion dollar highway building plan, Jan. 27.

No. 10 In Danger

LONDON (AP)—No. 10 Downing St., London home of Prime Minister Churchill and traditional residence of British premiers for more than 200 years, is in danger of collapsing.

The roof of the stately red brick house designed by Christopher Wren in the 17th Century and badly shaken by Hitler's bombs in the 20th Century, is sagging, its foundations are crumbling and the interior walls need strengthening.

The Ministry of Works, official guardian of Britain's state-owned buildings, gave the first hint of the repair crisis Monday.

Revamp Asked

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—A penal survey committee has recommended that Missouri revamp its entire prison system to get away from what it called the old "lock 'em up and forget 'em" philosophy.

The committee's report came, after a lengthy study centering on the state penitentiary where a riot last Sept. 22 cost the lives of four convicts and caused millions of dollars of damages. Other disturbances of lesser violence followed a month later.

Commissioner Arrives For Job

Paul Pettygrove of Oxford, arrived in Lincoln Monday to assume his position as a State Railway commissioner.

Gov. Robert Crosby appointed Pettygrove last month to fill out the unexpired term on the commission of the late Harold Palmer of Omaha. Pettygrove, an attorney, was outstate campaign manager in Crosby's unsuccessful bid for Republican nomination to the U.S. senate last summer.

"I want to get my feet on the ground before making any statements about my work on the commission," Pettygrove said when he arrived.

Val Peterson Says Civil Defense Interest High, But Still Lagging

Former Gov. Val Peterson, now Federal Civil Defense Administrator, says interest in civil defense thinking has increased in the United States, although there still is much lethargy to combat.

Back in Lincoln over the holidays for his annual physical checkup, Peterson said Russia's recent tests with hydrogen bombs brought about increased interest in civil defense matters. The former governor, who served from 1947 to 1953, says, however, that the nation's civil defense program should be strengthened with more local interest.

Peterson said that Lincoln and Omaha have taken on greater importance in civil defense work because of their proximity to Strategic Air Command bases, which headquarters in Omaha. The base in Lincoln is listed as an auxiliary.

He said an additional danger, besides direct atomic attack, could come from radioactive fall-out from clouds that would settle this dust over large areas.

The federal official said no widespread atomic attacks on the United States could be successful unless the SAC system is badly hurt.

Peterson spoke last week to the national Association for the Advancement of Science at a meeting in Oakland, Calif. He expects to return to his offices in Washington, D.C. shortly.

Proposed Sewer-Development Plan Heard By City Council

The City Council has received some outside support for its proposed policy of not furnishing storm sewer facilities in new housing additions coming into the city.

Leslie M. McConnell, city manager of Council Bluffs, told the Council that his city has followed the practice for several years of requiring developers of new areas to install all utilities and improvements, including storm and sanitary sewers, paving, street markers, etc.

This policy, McConnell said, is now about to be put in the form of an ordinance.

At first, he explained, developers grumbled about the repuirements but they now like it. It permits the developer, he said, to present an entire real estate package to a prospective purchaser with everything paid and nothing left to string out later.

Council Bluffs, McConnell said, has also had an extensive re-surfacing program in recent years. Most of the cost of the resurfacing, he said, is split 50-50 between the city and adjoining property owners.

He spoke also of the prospect of a revenue bond issue to construct a sanitary sewage disposal plant when other cities, including Omaha, stop dumping sewage into the Missouri River.

According to McConnell, Council Bluffs intends to pay off the bonds with a sewage charge system based on water consumption.

A REVERSE ANGLE ON THE HOLIDAY NEWS

THAT thing called time always is in too much of a hurry — The first week of the first month of the new year almost has gone, and before we know it spring will be around (we hope) — Our cynicism concerning the arrival of spring involves the weatherman and his unfortunate habit of getting his seasons mixed up — spring when it should be winter —and vice versa.

It's nice for us that news doesn't depend entirely on the atmosphere — come sleet, or rain, or dark of night — we still have news—

* * *

THIS morning our conversation more or less reflects the season just passed — but in reverse — Instead of a dawn of gala greetings we have one of farewalls —and homecomings—

Just learned that Mr. and Mrs. George Peterman and their children, Gary and Lynn, who spent the holidays with Mrs. Peterman's mother, Mrs. H. C. Mardis, her brother, Hal Mardis — and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William L. Beachly, left on Sunday to return to their home in Union City, Tenn.

* * *

AND this is the day that Mr. and Mrs. A. Maxwell Klum left for their home in Palos Verdes Estates, Calif., after a holiday visit as the guests of Mrs. Klum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lawrence.

* * *

ALSO heard that Dr. and Mrs. Ellet Drake and their daughter, Halle, who came from Detroit to spend the holidays with Dr. Drake's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Drake, left on Sunday to return to their home.

* * *

OUR little red book (a new one for Christmas) tells us that the holiday travelers are wending their way homeward—

In the wee sma' hours of Tuesday morning, for example, Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. White returned from Salinas, Calif., where they were the Christmas and New Year's guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Grainger and their family. The family circle was completed by Mrs. Grainger's brother, Charles White, who joined his family only for the Christmas week-end.

* * *

AND back in town is Mrs. Oliver W. Everett who spent the holidays in Ottowa, Kan., where she was the guests of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Hewitt.

Mrs. Everett returned to Lincoln Sunday evening.

* * *

HEARD, too, that Dr. Ordella Geisler spent her holidays on the west coast — Dr. Geisler spent the holidays in Portland, Ore., where she was the guest of her father, R. W. Geisler, and her brother, A. E. Geisler. En route home Dr. Geisler stopped off in Boise, Ida., for a brief visit with Mrs. Francis L. Schmitt, formerly of Lincoln.

* * *

DISCOVERED, this very moment, that we must return to the departed guests — just long enough to tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Beal left on Sunday to return to their home in Santa Rosa, Calif., after spending the holidays in Nebraska — the guests of Mrs. Beal's parents, Dr. and Mrs. K. L. Holmes in Kearney — and her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jack D. Campbell, in Lincoln.

* * *

HAVE a new address or two this morning — Hear that Mr. and Mrs. Thomas True have moved into their new home at 3812 So. 20th, and are elbow deep in the settling process.

* * *

HEAR that Miss Louise Stam has returned from Jacksonville, Fla., where she was the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Safier (Roberta Stam).

And Miss Stam, by the way, has other news for us this morning — She is announcing that her marriage to Myron L. Garfinkle of Leavenworth, Kan., is to be solemnized on Sunday, March 6.

* * *

HAVE some news from Bassinet Circles today — the arrival, for instance, of Stephen Michael Lawlor on Saturday, Jan. 1, at Lincoln General Hospital. Stephen's mother is the former Sue Gorton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gorton of Tecumseh, and Kappa Kappa Gamma at Nebraska. And of course you know that the young man's paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. John F. Lawlor.

HEAR that Mr. and Mrs. George Abel, Jr., are basking in Florida sunshine during a brief winter holiday — They plan to return home in about 10 days.

* * *

SOMEONE told us that yesterday was "happy birthday" day for Gretchen Garlinghouse, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Richard E. Garlinghouse — But since Saturday was New Year's Day —and school began on Monday, young Miss Garlinghouse did her celebrating on Sunday — She was hostess to a small group of her neighborhood contemporaries at an afternoon movie —preceded by refreshments.

The Star Welcomes

Now that we've had a moment or two to catch our breath after all of the terrific rush of the past several days, we are taking time out to welcome some of our new Lincoln residents who have arrived from here and there to become new neighbors — some permanently — and others only for a tour of duty.

We're sorry to disappoint the three Cannon children, Mike, Ann and Mary, son and daughters of Col. and Mrs. Leo Cannon — The youngsters have been anxiously awaiting a typical Nebraska snowstorm, but something went wrong with the weather apparatus, and all they have seen were just a few snowflakes. This is the farthest north that the Cannons ever have lived, and although the younger generation in the family is excited enough about snow, Col. and Mrs. Cannon doubt that there will be any great thrill in it for them—

The Cannons are residing at 5030 Randolph St., and Mrs. Cannon has been busy redecorating their home — not an easy task at any time — but easier if you're as handy with a needle as Mrs. Cannon seems to be. When the Colonel gets squared away at the Air Force Base, he plans to resume his hobby of photography.

We're also welcoming this morning Col. and Mrs. Henry Godman who are all settled in their home at 2766 So. 33rd St. The Godman's have a number of choice geographical spots they may claim as "home" — Dallas, Tex. — Carmel, Calif.— or their most recent station, Washington D. C., but they'll settle for Dallas and Carmel.

We think it's interesting to learn, also, that Col. and Mrs. Godman met in Japan — that they both are artists but in different mediums — Mrs. Godman paints, and we hear that her home is filled with beautiful pictures — The Colonel, on the other hand, confines his talents to his fingers — and black wire. They have a common bond in the cuisine department, too — they both like to experiment with new and tantalizing recipes.

From Wilmington, Del., came the Conley family — Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Conley and their children, Valeria and Bruce. Capt. Conley returned home from Okinawa not so long ago, and we learned that during his absence Mrs. Conley and the children remained with relatives in Delaware.

By this time, we surmise, Mrs. Conley has finished those new drapes for the living room at 852 So. 27th, and has turned her talented fingers to other furnishings.

Opti-Mrs. Plans Skit

The January meeting of the Lincoln Opti-Mrs. Club will be held Friday afternoon following a 12:45 luncheon at the home of Mrs. C. J. Borland, 1951 Harwood.

A special comedy skit will be presented by a group of the members who will wear costumes complete with wigs and false faces. The program will follow the short business meeting.

Mrs. Harry Spahn is chairman of the luncheon committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Sherman Smith, Mrs. Harold Way, Mrs. George Fenger and Mrs. Albert Johnston.

Double Ring Service

MRS. GLEN M. OTTO

At a double ring ceremony solemnized Tuesday evening, Dec. 28, Miss Lucille Marie Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carlson, became the bride of Glen M. Otto, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Otto of Ceresco. Lighted candles and pedestal arrangments of white gladioli, snapdragons and pompom chrysanthemums against a background of frosted evergreens decorated the chancel of the Swedeburg Covenant Church for the service, which was read by the Rev. Lloyd L. Tebo of Stonington, Ill., uncle of the bride.

Mrs. Delmar Anderson of Chicago, Ill., and Miss Marilyn Johnson of Wahoo lighted the candles as a prelude of piano music was presented by Mrs. Dale Ebers of Lincoln. Mrs. Ebers also played the wedding music and accompanied Ronald Nelson of Ceresco, the vocal soloist.

As her sister's matron of honor, Mrs. James C. Tiernan of Lincoln wore a frock of holly red fashioned with a velvet bodice and bolero, and a wide skirt of net over taffeta. Wearing identical ensembles in the Copen blue shade were the bridesmatrons, Mrs. Waldon Carlson of Cuyahoga Falls, O., Mrs. James Long of Omaha, and Mrs. Clarence Patzloff of Ceresco. The attendants completed their costumes with headbands of net and velvet in frock tones and carried bouquets of white carnations. Miss Marilyn Tebo, cousin of the bride, in white organdy, was the flower girl, and the bride's nephew, Steven Carlson, was ringbearer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a gown of traditional white satin. The deep yoke of illusion was edged with an embroidered scroll of pearls and sequins, and the molded bodice was designed with long, fitted sleeves. Shirred into fullness, the circular skirt extended into a train, and her veil of illusion, bordered with the beaded motif, was held by a satin cap traced with pearls and sequins. She carried a white Bible ornamented with a white orchid.

Ray Otto of Ceresco served his brother as best man, and the ushers were Waldon Carlson of Cuyahoga Falls, O., Clarence Patzloff and Arthur Palmer of Ceresco.

Following the ceremony, a reception for 175 guests was held in the church parlors.

Mr. Otto and his bride, who is a graduate of Immanuel Hospital School of Nursing in Omaha, will make their home at Ceresco.

MEDICAL JOURNAL REPORTS PROOF YOU CAN SPARE YOUR FAMILY DAYS OF SUFFERING FROM COUGHS OF COLDS
Here's Relief So Different It Will Change All Your Ideas About Cough Syrups

Six Leading Cough Syrups Tested in Medical Center. Results Vital to You.

Never before could any leading cough syrup promise you so much. Think of it! A new kind of cough syrup specially made, not only to relieve coughing faster and more completely, but also to shorten the duration of the cough!

Here are Facts:

After testing six leading cough syrups on patients of all ages for two years in a prominent clinic, doctors published their findings in a Medical Journal article. They reported that new Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup was not only the "best of the preparations tested," but also cut the duration of coughs of colds by at least two full days.

Right now . . . with colds threatening, these findings are especially important to you.

Cetamium is the Answer

One reason why Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup is so effective, the report concluded, is that it contains Cetamium. This remarkable new penetrating ingredient carries relief-bringing medicine to the cough-irritated crevices of the throat. There, it medicates as it penetrates. In addition, Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup also works through the system to speed breaking up of the cough.

Proved Safe for Children

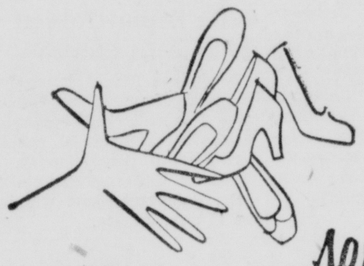

Doctors also learned that Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup was the only cough syrup tested that did not upset the stomach of any patient, regardless of age. This feature, plus its pleasant flavor, makes it ideal for children.

So spare your child days of suffering from coughs of colds. Use new, more effective Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup.

MEDICAL JOURNAL REPORTS:*
Matched, point for point, against five other leading cough preparations, Vicks Cough Syrup:
1. Helped reduce the duration of the cough by 2 full days.
2. Started to bring relief 39% faster than the average.
3. Brought more complete relief from coughs.
4. Was the only preparation tested that did not upset the stomach of a single patient.

India Rejects Offer To Send Diplomat On Dag's Mission

Apparent Opposition Emphasized

NEW DEHLI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru was reported Monday to have rejected an invitation to send a senior Indian diplomat along on U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's mission to Peiping to gain the release of 11 American airmen.

Authoritative sources said Hammarskjold made the suggestion, but that Nehru turned it down on the grounds India had abstained in the General Assembly vote which directed the secretary general to do his utmost to get the Red Chinese to free the American airmen and other U. N. personnel held by the Peiping regime.

Sendoff Cool

The rejection served to emphasize Nehru's apparent opposition to the trip. The prime minister waited 19 hours after Hammarskjold arrived here on his way to Peiping before seeing the U. N. chief, and no high-ranking Indian government official was on hand to greet him at the airport.

The sendoff was equally cool, with only lower-ranking Indian officials on hand to see the Hammarskjold party take off in an Indian government plane for Canton, China, the next leg of the trip.

American, Russian and Scandinavian diplomats were at the airport to greet Hammarskjold, as was Red China's charge d'affaires, Shen Chien.

'Good Luck'

U. S. Charge d'Affaires Donald Kennedy had wished Hammarskjold "good luck and happy landings."

The Chinese diplomat called out "happy landings."

Despite Nehru's recent criticism of the mission as "unfortunate," observers here had a hard time explaining the Indian attitude, since the prime minister earlier sent a message to Red China's Premier Chou En-lai suggesting he agree to the meeting with Hammarskjold.

Two Hours

Once he got to see the Indian Prime Minister Monday, Hammarskjold conferred for two hours with him. India's chief delegate to the U. N., V. K. Krishna Menon joined the meeting for 15 minutes. Then Nehru entertained the U. N. diplomat at lunch. Neither Indian nor U. N. spokesmen would say what was discussed. Prior to these meetings, Hammarskjold talked for an hour with Indian President Rajendra Prasad.

Hammarskjold's plane was expected to reach Canton at 9 a.m. Tuesday (8 p.m. EST Monday). The party will change to a Red Chinese plane at Canton to complete the flight to Peiping by nightfall.

STAN DELAPLANE'S

POSTCARD

I did not wear glasses until I had a fair amount of mileage on me. And as a matter of fact, I do not really need them now. I have eyes like an eagle. It just takes time to get them adjusted, that's all.

Anyway, I went down the other day to purchase a new set.

"Read the top line," said the gentleman.

"The top line of what?" I said. The light is very bad in these places. Have you noticed that? Blurry.

"The line below the big 'E,' he said.

"Just fit me up with glasses," I said briskly. "And do not waste our mutual time with the gag lines. I have looked at these charts before and am quite aware that they are double-talk."

"Boy," he said. "You do need glasses, don't you?"

"That is as may be," I said. I am not copping a plea on that kind of question. Not while we are still trading.

☆ ☆ ☆

As I say, I did not wear glasses in my youth. And more's the pity. For it would have saved me many a bruise.

It is in the lore of small boys that you must never hit anyone with glasses.

"It's a penitentiary offense to hit anyone with glasses," we said. We believed it too.

This was a sad situation. For I was pretty sure I could lick all the little boys I knew who wore glasses. A whole lot of boys who didn't wear glasses could lick me. A number of them did.

If I had worn glasses in those days, I might have been scorned. But I would have been less battered.

☆ ☆ ☆

My glasses are very distinguished looking. They are rimmed. The glasses of a thinker.

The only problem is that they are fragile. I am constantly slipping them in my pistol pocket and then sitting on them Crunch. Another $35.

More men wear glasses than girls. I think this is mainly because of those lines:

"Men never make passes
"At girls who wear glasses."

Ladies who cannot see from here to there, go downtown without the foggiest notion where they are. They window shop with their noses pressed against the window glass. All they can make out in the window is the color of the dress. They cannot tell whether it buttons down the back or zips up the side.

But wear glasses? Not a chance.

Matter of fact, I do not believe those lines about ladies and glasses. Many ladies are attractive in glasses. I could tell you—. But who wants to listen to an old man's memories.

☆ ☆ ☆

The latest thing in glasses seems to be the upswept rim. When you put them on you look like a jet airplane about to take off.

You can also get rims set with rhinestones or rubies.

These are not for me, the studious and distinguished type. I just mention it to show how times have changed since I used to harry small boys home from school hollering: "Hey, Four-eyes!"

The old-time glasses made you look like an owl. They were big and round and rimmed. All the boys who wore them got good marks and were teacher's pets. I disliked them intensely. Mainly because they were the only ones I was pretty sure I could lick. But I did not care to go to the penitentiary either.

Ah, well, times have changed and glasses have changed and my eyes have changed.

I cannot see the line below the big "E." In fact, I cannot even see the Big "E." We all know now that it is not a penitentiary offense to put the slug on a boy with glasses. It is only a misdemeanor.

This is pretty late in the game to find out about it. For I find I no longer care to whip the boy on the next block. And I hope that he has the same attitude toward me.

Schools Net $293,060 From Mineral Rights

The state Board of Educational Lands and Funds said Monday that $293,060 were collected from mineral lease rentals for the temporary school fund during 1954.

The temporary school fund also receives $29,094 in bonus payments on agricultural leases.

Cash collections from the federal mineral lease act, gravel and rock, gas, and oil provided $133,543 for the permanent school fund, the board said.

Drunk Charges Are Dismissed Against Bing Crosby's Son

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Drunk charges were dismissed Monday against crooner Bing Crosby's 20-year-old son, Dennis, because the youth had never before been involved with the law.

Municipal Judge Robert Clifton dismissed the charges and pointed out that Dennis, one of the "Old Groaner's" twin sons, "never had been in trouble before."

Dennis did not appear in court but was represented by Attorney Richard C. Bergin.

The singer's son was arrested Saturday night with three friends, one of whom was accused of drunk driving.

The arrests came after a high speed chase down Wilshire Boulevard during which the car in which young Crosby was riding allegedly "buzzed" two pedestrians.

The car was driven by Howard N. Gilmore, 21, of Palo Alto, who was charged with speeding, running through a stop light and drunk driving.

When it turned out that Crosby and Gilmore knew the two pedestrians they "buzzed," police arrested them on plain drunk charges. They were Paul B. Mardesich, 22, of Saratoga, Calif., and Joseph Gresham, 23, of Sunnyvale, Calif.

10 State Counties Off-Limits To Russ

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ten Nebraska counties are among areas of the United States now declared off-limits to Russians.

The State Department, in a frankly retaliatory move against Kremlin restrictions on the travel of U.S. citizens inside the Soviet, announced that 27 per cent of the nation is off-limits.

Nebraska areas included are Cass, Douglas, Gage, Johnson, Lancaster, Nemaha, Otoe, Pawnee, Richardson and Sarpy counties.

All are in the eastern and southeastern part of the state and include areas surrounding Offutt Air Force Base, home of the Strategic Air Command, and Lincoln Air Force Base, a SAC installation.

The State Department announcement came after Secretary of State Dulles formally notified Soviet Ambassador Georgi N. Zaraubin.

For the first time, it creates barred areas and closed cities inside the United States.

The Soviet has had similarly stiff regulations in effect for years.

But the U.S. notice held out a suggestion that this country would drop its curbs on travel by Russians if the Soviet government took the first step in that direction.

State Department spokesmen said the restricted areas total 27 per cent of the U.S. land area and include part of 39 states, most of the Mexican Border and the Great Lakes section of the Canadian Border.

In the Soviet, these officials said, about 30 per cent of the land area is closed to travel by U.S. citizens or other foreigners.

NU Students Get RA Commissions

Two University of Nebraska ROTC seniors have been selected to receive commissions in the regular Army after graduation, Col. Chester J. Diestel, professor of military science and tactics, announced.

The two seniors are: Richard H. Kafonek, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Kafonek, Sr., of Omaha and George W. Medley, son of Maj. and Mrs. Arthur W. Medley, 1250 D, Lincoln.

Kafonek, who will graduate from the college of engineering and architecture in February, will receive his commission in the Corps of Engineers. Medley will be nominated for appointment in the Ordnance Corps. He will graduate from the College of Business Administration in June.

Both students earned the designation as distinguished military students. Normally Army ROTC graduates are appointed as officers in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Deadshot Deputy

TYLER, Tex. (AP)—Miss Betty King, 22-year-old pistol expert, has been named a deputy sheriff of Smith County. Her skill as a marksman, however, will be confined to the practice range. She is an office deputy, handling police radio, bookkeeping and filing.

Make 'Cold Peace' True Peace—Pope

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius XII has urged the world to transform the current "cold peace" into a true peace as soon as possible. He called upon Christians to help build "a bridge of peace" between East and West. But he warned anew against Communist propaganda.

The pontiff's plea was made in his 16th annual Christmas message, which illness prevented him from delivering Christmas eve. Dated Dec. 24, the 6,000-word message was released Monday by the Vatican.

Like its 15 predecessors, the message was devoted to peace. The 78-year-old head of the Roman Catholic Church recognized that, compared with the years of war and cold war, the present cold peace indicates "some progress in the laborious ripening of peace properly so called."

Too Vivid

"But," he added, "it is in too vivid contrast with the spirit of cordiality, of sincerity and of brightness that hovers around the cradle of the Redeemer."

The world's current cold peace he called "only a provisional calm." Its duration is conditioned upon fear and the varying calculations of strength and has nothing in it of relationships that converge toward a common purpose that is right and just, he explained.

Much of the pontiff's message was devoted to peaceful coexistence, which he divided into three sections: Coexistence in fear, coexistence in error and coexistence in truth. Only the third, he said, can lead to true peace.

The Pope said coexistence in fear "is not a state of war, but neither is it peace: it is a cold calm."

Now 1½ billion dollars strong—
Independents continue record gains!

Ten years of expansion and improvement have doubled their investment in telephone service

GROSS PLANT INVESTMENT of Independent Telephone Companies

Last year, the 5,100 Independent Telephone Companies serving the U. S., Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska passed the billion-and-a-half mark in plant investment. In ten years, this thriving industry has doubled its size—and the years ahead promise even more. Why? Look at decentralization. Business is shifting in plants, offices and personnel over wider and wider areas. Independent Telephone Companies are there—ready to provide the growing communications set-ups required. And look at technical progress. Such modern advances as long distance radio links and direct intercity dialing, both by operators and by customers, are multiplying telephone use. The growing Independent system of 9 million-plus telephones covers many of our nation's most active centers of development.

LT&T is the largest Independent telephone company in Nebraska and among the largest in the nation. It serves 115,000 telephones (about one-fourth) of the telephones in the state. It operates 124 exchanges among the larger of which are Lincoln, Hastings, Beatrice and Nebraska City.

State Polio Attack Rate 4th Highest

Nebraska's polio attack rate during 1954 was the fourth highest in the nation, Clinton Belknap, East Nebraska representative for the Infantile Paralysis Foundation, reported Monday.

The attack rate was 127 per cent higher than the national average, he said as the 1955 March of Dimes campaign got under way in the state.

A report last week showed 713 cases for the year but Belknap said he understood the new state Health Department report due Tuesday would show six more cases, bringing the total to 719.

Second Highest

That would make 1954 the second highest year for total cases in Nebraska, shoving 1948, with 717 cases, back into third place.

(The final total for polio cases in Lancaster County during 1954 was 55, Morris Siegel, head of the county Polio Foundation chapter, reported. The figure was three times the previous year's total of 18.)

Nebraska's worst year was in 1952, with 2,254 cases recorded. This still stands as a national record for incidence.

Only 19 polio deaths have been reported officially for 1954, Belknap said, a lower rate than seen four and five years ago. Improved techniques and more knowledge of the disease has contributed to lowering the death rate, he said.

Load Hiked

The very fact that more polio patients are kept alive has added to the load on the polio foundation, Belknap noted.

Of the 889 patients helped by polio foundation chapters in Nebraska during 1954, 525 of them were holdover patients from previous years, he said.

The care of polio patients cost Nebraska chapters $411,510 during the year, making necessary the drawing of $115,700 in emergency advances from the national office.

Ted Hughes of Seward heads the March of Dimes drive.

Hastings, Fremont Firms File Papers

Firms filing articles of incorporation with the secretary of state Monday included:

Hastings Concrete Co., Hastings with authorized capitalization of $100,000. Incorporators are Everett R. Jones, Beatrice; J. W. Lawler, Beatrice; Douglas Jorn, Hastings, and Theodore Ziemba, Hastings.

Gifford Homes, Inc., Fremont; $100,000; Arthur and Irene Gifford.

Liquor Hearings Set

The State Liquor Commission Monday said that hearings on individual applications for retail package liquor licenses by Arthur De Mars and Joseph Shampanier, both of Hastings, will be held Jan. 20. The date for a hearing on an off sale beer license application made by Sarah Farber, Lincoln, was set for Jan. 18.

Victory Dance For Winners

Dewey Sheridan (center), member of the triumphant Lincoln all-city midget football league team that won national honors last week in the Santa Claus Bowl, got a royal welcome, including a victory dance, when the team returned Monday night. Included in the more than 200 citizens on hand for the greeting were Dewey's cousins, Louie Sheridan, 3, (left), and Frank Sheridan (right). (Star Photo.)

Roaring Welcome Given All-Conquering Midgets

By RON GIBSON
Star Sports Staff Member

Lincoln loves a winner.

More than 200 local citizens were at the Burlington Depot Monday night to prove that by providing a roaring welcome for Lincoln's Santa Claus Bowl midget football champions as they returned from Florida.

The train carrying the 25-man squad which won the national small-boy football championship in Lakeland, Fla. arrived one half hour late — at 7:10 p.m.

But the delay only served to let the crowd's enthusiasm grow. And by the time Burlington No. 11 out of Chicago pulled into the station the throng of parents, relatives and well-wishers was ready for a rip-snorting welcome.

It wasn't until the 25 players and their four adult companions got off the train that they realized how big a place they had won in the hearts of Lincolnites and Nebraskans.

The eyes of 11, 12 and 13-year-old football players popped as they clambered off the train to encounter in whirlwind fashion these preparations:

The Lincoln High band playing brisk marches.

Greetings from all the fathers, mothers, brothers, sisters, uncles, aunts and cousins — and a few girl friends, too.

Popping camera flashbulbs which characterize the arrival of celebrities.

Shouts of congratulations from the Lincoln Jaycee officials who organized the reception.

Greetings from Governor Robert Crosby and Governor-elect Victor Anderson.

For a few players, there were special greetings. Lon Dubois was the center of attraction for his Boy Scout Troop, No. 30, which gathered around Lon to give him a cheer. Troop 43 turned out to meet one of its members on the team — Ray Storey.

Several relatives and friends of Dewey Sheridan, in tribal costume, gave an Indian victory dance for the champs at trackside and again in the station.

Parental pride was the order of the evening. "That's my boy" looks could be found everywhere.

All the pride wasn't confined to parents. Little cousins like Sheri Oltman (a cousin of quarterback Glen Heckman) and big brothers like Larry Littrell (a brother of guard Ken Littrell) were visibly proud.

Heckman was one of Lincoln's stars in the two Santa Claus bowl victories. Littrell, a guard, did a good job in the line—but then he was only imitating brother Larry, who did a good job in the line for Lincoln High's state prep champions.

"All the boys did a good job," beamed Chuck Worrall, head coach coach.

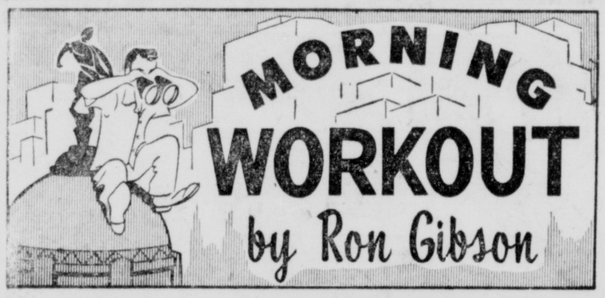

Chuck, besieged by hand-shaking well-wishers, still found time to talk to his players.

Donnie McWilliams, the halfback hero of the 26-0 win over Philadelphia in the first game of the bowl, came up to Worrall as the crowd was leaving.

"Can we go now?" he grinned. "Is it all over?"

"Yes, you can go," smiled Chuck.

But it isn't all over for the champs. Remaining activities include a television appearance and a public affairs luncheon in their honor Saturday. That will finish a trip that 25 young football players will never forget.

This comes under the heading of sad thoughts for the new year, and we wonder how many Nebraskans must have had the same feeling New Year's Day.

We watched Duke beat the tar out of Nebraska in the Orange Bowl and then saw Ohio State overpower Southern Cal in the Rose Bowl. Despite the rain and mud in the Rose Bowl, State moved easily against SC, not a bad team in its own right. You got the impression that Ohio State and USC could have handled Duke—and needless to say, Nebraska.

And here's the crusher:

Nebraska plays Ohio State in the second game of the 1955 season—at Columbus Sept. 24. Ohio State, the nation's number one team, will have lots of talent returning. Hopalong Cassady will be back. And as this Buckeye showed the nation New Year's Day, you can't mess with Hoppy.

Those Ohio State linemen are just like Oklahoma forwards. They kind of take the joy out of football for the opposition.

It won't be any fun for the Cornhuskers, who are having a bad time of it right now. The wolves are baying again.

We feel kind of sorry for the Huskers, and even more sorry for the people who expected to run wild in the Orange Bowl. Look at it this way:

Suppose your big brother was a boxer, and had a contract to fight Rocky Marciano. Then suppose you woke up one morning and found that your big brother couldn't make the match and you had to fight in his place.

That's the kind of spot the Huskers were in. Big brother, Oklahoma, the rightful representative of the Big Seven, could not go to the bowl. So Nebraska, the best of the little brothers, had to fill in. It was a bad deal all around.

Maybe Prof. Don Lentz's Nebraska band, which salvaged some glory for the Huskers, should have included a special number for Oklahoma in the halftime show:

"Wish You Were Here."

When it's time to cast away the old calendar that means, among other things, that baseball is near at hand.

There are only 56 days until the major leagues open spring training. The Lincoln Chiefs, with their new Pittsburgh affiliation, will begin shortly after the March 1 opening date for the majors.

Other calendar calculations:

Only 65 days until the state basketball tourney (March 10).

Only 107 days until horse racing begins in Nebraska at Grand Island's Fonner Park April 21 (spring is in the air).

Just 146 days until Memorial Day (doubleheaders and the Indy 500-mile race).

181 days until the Fourth of July (pennant race is half over).

230 days until Aug. 22—the date Nebraska high schools start football practice.

240 days until Sept. 1—The Huskers' traditional starting date.

256 days until Nebraska's first game (Hawaii at Lincoln).

331 days until basketball for 1955-56 starts (Dec. 1).

362 days until New Year's Day (Oklahoma is in the Orange Bowl).

And a special:

723 days until the 1957 Orange Bowl (prediction: the Huskers will be there. They have the potential to do it).

Improved Cykes 1st Loop Opponent For Huskers

Jerry Bush, convinced that the Big Seven is one of the tougher basketball leagues in the nation, leads a Nebraska team into regular conference competition for the first time tonight.

Game time is 8 p.m. at the Coliseum and the foe is fast-improving Iowa State.

This is only the second home appearance for the Bushmen, who trounced South Dakota in their last Coliseum showing.

Bush, when he took over as head coach last spring, said he thought the Big Seven was an all-agound good basketball conference.

Three Big Seven teams — Missouri, Kansas and Colorado — backed that statement to the hilt by belting the Huskers three straight times in the pre-season tournament at Kansas City.

Highly Improved

Tonight's foe will be no slouch although early in the season the Cyclones looked like easy prey for the rest of the conference. Bush terms them a highly improved team.

"Bill Strannigan (Iowa State coach) has done a tremendous job with them," Bush said Monday.

Bush pointed out that the Cyclones have all their key men back, including 6-foot 5-inch center Chuck Duncan — a "greatly improved" player by the Husker coach's standards.

Duncan scored 75 points in the three-game conference tourney and against Kansas scored 34 for a new Iowa State record. He has a 21.1 point per-game average.

The Huskers may have more trouble with Cyclone guard Gary Thompson than with Duncan.

Triple Threat

"Thompson is an excellent ball-handler, mover and shot," Bush said of the Iowa set-up man.

Iowa State was the surprise team of the recent Big Seven tourney, finishing third with two victories. Bush, who saw them play when he was not watching the Husker flippers get beat, doesn't regard them lightly. But neither does he think the Huskers are out of it.

Trouble-Makers

"I still feel we can cause trouble in the conference race," he said.

On the basis of past records, they could cause trouble tonight.

Nebraska and Iowa State have two common opponents, Bradley and Kansas. Here's how they fared against them:

Nebraska—Beat Bradley, 93-68, but lost to Kansas, 69-66.

Iowa State—Lost to Bradley, 79-67, but then beat Kansas, 82-81.

The Huskers bring a 2-6 record into their first game of 1955. Iowa State is 5-2. Last year Nebraska beat Iowa State twice, 74-60, and 78-65. The Cornhuskers finished fifth in the conference and Iowa State was last.

Bush's Nebraska starting lineup is unchanged from the one which went against Kansas in the final tournament game. The Husker coach substitutes freely, however, and bench strength could be Nebraska's strong point tonight.

Season's record for both teams:

NEBRASKA		IOWA STATE
81—Iowa	84	78—Carleton	60
87—So. Dakota	51	80—Denver	59
93—Bradley	68	72—Drake	53

58—Missouri	75	82—Kansas	81

Lineups:

WL Claim Settlement Seen Soon

DENVER (AP) — Ed C. Johnson, Colorado's Governor-elect and President of the Western League, said Monday the Class A League hopes to settle by Wednesday its claim against the American Assn. for the loss of Denver.

Both Denver and Omaha, Western League members until this year, have been taken into the Triple-A league. The league's claim for Omaha has been approved.

"We are concentrating on settling the claim for Denver," said Johnson, who retired last year as U. S. Senator. "That's our No. 1 order of business now.

"We are setting up a schedule but that and other problems must wait until we finish the Denver business."

Johnson said he had no comment to make now as to how long he would retain the league president. At the time of his election as Governor last Nov. 2, he said state affairs would prevent his keeping the baseball position.

"We'll take that and other problems in our stride," he said. He added: "Don't sell the Western League short."

Leggett Gets 'Outstanding Player' Nod

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Quarterback Dave Leggett of the winning Ohio State football team Monday was voted almost unanimously the outstanding player in the Rose Bowl game and the Buckeyes won unstinted praise from two of losing Southern California's players.

Leggett's remarkable ball handling and running in the Big Ten club's 20-7 victory over USC won the annual poll of California sportswriters and sportscasters conducted by the Helms Athletic Foundation.

Only two votes did not go for Leggett. Both went to halfback Jon Arnett of USC.

Arnett and co-captain Eddie Fouch were guests at the writers' luncheon in Los Angeles.

OSU Backs Best

Fouch said the OSU backs were the best they had faced all season and added that the field was too muddy to give a true comparison of the lines.

The big tackle, aware that the Ohio coach, Woody Hayes, had said four or five Big Ten teams were better than USC, said he didn't care to enter a post-game controversy stirred up by the Hayes remark.

But he pointed out that this was the first time in four years that he, as a Trojan, had lost to a Big Ten team.

As for the Ohio State-UCLA argument—which club was the better—Fouch picked UCLA as much superior in defense and intimated he thought UCLA would have beaten Ohio State.

Arnett described the Bucks as "about equal with UCLA and Notre Dame." USC lost to both teams in the regular season.

Turner Stops Scortichini

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil Turner, fighting in furious bursts, pounded out a unanimous decision over favored Italo Scortichini Monday night in a wild 10-round match at St. Nicholas Arena. Scortichini weighed 154¾, Turner 154 pounds.

Turner closed with a rush down the stretch after a spotty start when he let the Italian bull him. It was the more accurate fire of the Philadelphia Negro that swung the balance against the sturdy Scortichini's headlong style.

chini's headlong style.

Referee Jack Watson scoredit 5-3-2, Judge Artie Aidala 8-2 and Judge Bert Grant 6-4 all in favor of Turner. The AP card was 6-3-1 for Turner. A crowd of 1,388 paying $2,070 to see the televised bout appeared to agree with the decision.

There were no knockdowns in the rousing battle in which Turner was cut over the left eye and both were warned. Referee Watson cautioned Scortichini for butting in the fifth and 10th and reprimanded Turner for hitting and holding in the first.

College Series Set

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association has set June 10-14 as the dates for the annual NCAA college baseball world series to be played in Omaha.

Kentucky Wildcats Are Still No. 1 Cage Team

By JOE REICHLER
The Associated Press

Kentucky's mighty Wildcats, still unbeaten after a month of competition, easily retained their No. 1 ranking among the nation's major college basketball teams Monday in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The defending Southeastern Conference champions headed 89 of the 116 ballots cast by sportswriters and sportscasters throughout the nation to pile up 1,090 points, nearly 200 more than their nearest pursuer. The Wildcats trounced St. Louis by 17 points and overwhelmed Temple by 31 points last week to run their unbeaten string to 7 this season and 32 games over a two-year span.

Duquesne, winner of the Holiday Festival at Madison Square Garden, vaulted into second place with 869 points. The Dukes, who were in eighth place last week, drew 14 first place votes by virtue of their New Year's Eve triumph over LaSalle. Only a loss to George Washington in eight games mars Duquesne's record.

LaSalle (9-3) dropped one notch to fourth place behind North Carolina State's Wolfpack who fell from second to third because of a surprising defeat at the hands of twice-beaten Villanova. LaSalle polled 630 points to 697 for the Wolfpack who also saw their 12-game winning streak go up in smoke.

Some Changes Made

San Francisco's Dons (8-1) remained in fifth place with 515 points but two other schools—Illinois and Niagara—dropped out of the Top Ten. Their places were taken by UCLA and Missouri.

Gash Over Eye Stops Dreyer

BROOKLYN, (AP) — Joey Klein, an 11-5 underdog and loser of three straight, slashed gashes over both of Gerry Dreyer's eyes Monday night to gain a seventh-round technical knockout over the South African in a bloody, telecast scrap at Eastern Parkway Arena. Each weighed 150½.

Referee Mark Conn stopped the one sided battle after the bell had ended the seventh. It was recorded as a seventh-round TKO. Seconds before the seventh finished, Klein rocked the former British Empire welterweight champion with a right to the jaw.

The loss snapped Dreyer's winning streak at three and knocked him out of a Jan. 24 bout with Pete Adams at St. Nicholas Arena.

The rangy invader was cut over each eye and under the left orb. He was staggered at least five times and was far behind when Conn intervened.

Referee Conn and Judge Joe Agnello each had Klein ahead 7-0. Judge Arthur Susskind awarded Dreyer the first two rounds and the next five to Klein.

The AP card had it 7-0.

The determined little New Yorker was well battered himself. He was cut under the left eye and had a purplish lump under his right eye. In addition, both bled from the nose and from the fourth round on both fighters and the referee looked like slaughter house workers.

Rams Win Seventh

NEW YORK (AP) — Fordham turned in a blistering second-half attack to defeat a stubborn Princeton five, 66-56, Monday night before a slim crowd at the Bronx court. It was the Rams' seventh victory against four setbacks and the sixth loss in seven starts for the visitors.

Freeman Gets 39

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — Robin Freeman, the nation's leading scorer, made 39 points Monday night sparking an Ohio State win over Michigan State, 83-76, in the opening Big Ten basketball game for both teams.

Small Group Meets Huskers

Nebraska's Cornhuskers made a sad homecoming Monday night at the Lincoln Municipal Airport, being greeted by only a few wives and parents as they arrived from Miami.

The Huskers arrived at 11:30 p.m. The 30-man group which made the trip down returned accompanied by three injured players, three cheerleaders and a student newspaper reporter, all of whom had made a separate journey to Florida.

After curt greetings and few smiles, the team departed by bus and car for their homes.

Tennessee Scores Win Over Clemson

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee held Clemson's star point maker to 2-3 of his average Monday night in beating the South Carolina team 94-55 in a college basketball game.

The Tigers' Bill Yarborough was still the individual scoring star of the night with 20 points. Bill Hall and Bill Lovelace combined in guarding Yarborough whose 30-point average was fifth in the nation.

Indiana On Way

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's sleeping giants, beaten five times in non-conference games, woke up Monday night and charged after their third straight Big Ten basketball championship with a 95-77 victory over favored Michigan. All-America center Don Schlundt scored 30 points.

Iowa Wins Opener

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Sizzling hot Iowa's Hawkeyes opened their Big Ten basketball campaign Monday night by smothering Wisconsin 86-69, before a crowd of 11,200.

Notre Dame Edged

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Louisville edged from nine points behind Monday night to take a 73-69 basketball decision from Sugar Bowl champion Notre Dame.

Lakers Win, 76-74

CHICAGO (AP)— The Minneapolis Lakers defeated the Philadelphia Warriors 76 to 74 in a National Basketball Assn. game Monday night at the stadium.

Harden Back To Boost Plainsmen

Nebraska Wesleyan University will wind up its non-conference basketball slate here tonight by entertaining the strong Concordia College Bulldogs from Seward.

The game is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Ira J. Taylor gym.

Coach Luther Schwick will bring the best Concordia team in recent years, perhaps the best in Concordia history, to Lincoln for tonight's contest.

The Bulldogs have height, speed and scoring ability, and own a 3-2 record in five 1954 starts against strong competition.

In Bob Otte and Dave Faszholz, the Bulldogs own a strong outside-inside scoring combination. Otte, with a 23-plus per game scoring average, is the outside man. Postman Faszholz, also scoring at better than 20 points per contest, mans the inside position.

Forward Don Peterson adds power to the Bulldog attack and joins Fasbholz to give Schwich a strong rebounding duo.

Coach Irv Peterson's Plainsmen, with a 4-3 record in seven starts, will again be without the services of towering Jerry Holland, victim of an ankle injury at Omaha in mid-December. But Foster McGuire who missed the Huron tournament, will have rejoined his mates and the Wesleyan starting combination will again be intact for the Bulldog tussle.

Other bright spots on the Wesleyan picture are the return of jumpin' John Harden to varsity duty and a sudden splurge of scoring power from the old veteran, Mel Sheary.

Thought Twice

Harden has reconsidered an earlier decision to pass up basketball this year and rejoined his mates in time to make the Huron trip. Sheary average 26 points a game in the Huron affair against strong competition and could be the key to the Plainsmen bid for a third straight Nebraska College Conference championship.

The probable starts:

Wesleyan		Concordia
Fredstrom (6-4)	f	Peterson (6-2)
Sheary (6-0)	f	Brauer (6-2)
McGuire (6-2)	c	Faszholz (6-3)
Wood (6-2)	g	Otte (6-0)
Kroeger (510)	g	Markin (6-0)

Cleared 100 With Two Good Nights

Mel Sheary, Wesleyan senior forward, has apparently returned to his pre-service form. He scored over 30 points in two big nights at the Huron, S.D. basketball tournament during the holidays to lead the Plainsmen past the 100-point mark in scoring. He and his points will be needed as Wesleyan meets tough Concordia tonight.

Big 7 Won't Change Rule, Says Peters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Reeves E. Peters, Big Seven Commissioner, said Monday the conference will not rescind its rule against sending the same team to the Orange Bowl two years in a row.

Because of this rule, the Big Seven sent runner-up Nebraska to meet Duke, the Atlantic Coast Conference champion, in last Saturday's Orange Bowl game. Duke won 34-7 in a game so one-sided many of the 68,750 bored fans left soon after halftime.

The ACC doesn't have such a rule against repeat performances by its champions.

"Even though the criticism has been pretty strong, we will continue with our present system," Peters said.

TV Laugh for Nation?

Midwest writers predicted after Saturday's game that the much-disputed rule would be discussed at the meeting of Big Seven faculty representatives at Kansas City in March.

"The conference has its pride," commented Don Bryant, sports editor of the Lincoln, Neb., Star. "It doesn't like to be laughed at, especially over a national television network."

Sports Editor Jimmy Burns of the Miami Herald called the Orange Bowl pact with the two conferences "a millstone around the neck of the gullible Orange Bowl Committee." The contract was renewed last week for three more games.

Miami Newsmen Rap Rule

"If Big Seven officials want to be fair and honest," Burns said, "they will immediately lift the ban on any team playing in two successive games, or withdraw from the pact."

Sports Editor Morris McLemore of the Miami Daily News commented that unless the Big Seven will repeal its rule, "All the Orange Bowl can count on is money."

"The reasons given by faculty chairmen for the restrictive clause sound like sense only to other faculty chairmen," McLemore wrote, "not to the public."

Evers Is Sold To Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles announced Monday they had bought outfielder Hoot Evers from the Detroit Tigers.

The Orioles said they paid "in excess of the $10,000 waiver price" for Evers who will be 34 years old next month.

Despite his age, Manager Paul Richards, said he bought Evers because "he's still a fine defensive player and he bats right, which means we could alternate with him on occasions."

Virginia Gets By South Carolina

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Buzzy Wilkinson poked in 29 points and Bob McCarthy 26 here Monday night as Virginia's Cavaliers rang up their third Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory by routing South Carolina 89-69.

Virginia opened up a 22-point lead in the first nine minutes of the contest as Wilkinson and McCarthy missed on only two of their first 17 shots from the floor.

Woody Preston made South Carolina's first seven points and the Gamecocks led 7-6 after two minutes. But then Wilkinson and McCarthy took charge.

Gophers Dropped

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern stormed from behind with a tremendous rally Monday night that offset a 10-point second half Minnesota lead to down the Gophers 74-72 in an opening Big Ten game for both teams.

Purdue Rambles

PEORIA, Ill. (AP)— Purdue became the first basketball team ever to score 100 points against Bradley as the Big Ten representative blasted the Braves, 109-92, Monday night in a final tuneup for its conference campaign.

Shantz Brothers Mailed Contracts

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics, racing against time to get a major league park and baseball club ready by April 12, sent out contracts to 37 players Monday.

"These are the men we are going to start with," said Ray Kennedy, director of personnel. "Whether we will find some other prospects in the club's farm system will have to wait until Feb. 14. We've picked out 40 of the better bets to report for screening to Manager Lou Boudreau on that date at Sanford, Fla. Maybe we will find a few there that have a chance to make the club."

Kennedy said contracts mailed Monday included those to Bobby and Wilmer Shantz.

20-Year-Old Ban Is Ended With No Fuss

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — 20-year-old tradition fell without a clatter in New Orleans when Negroes and whites sat together to watch Navy beat Mississippi 21-0 in the Sugar Bowl football game Saturday.

Mid-Winter Sports Assn. officials, who sponsor the Sugar Bowl, said the whole operation was carried out "perfectly."

B. J. Grenrood, president of the association said he knew of no commotion or disorderliness in the huge Sugar Bowl Stadium at Tulane University during the game.

"The Navy was satisfied and we were satisfied," he said.

The Sugar Bowl official said, however, that only Negroes were seated in the section usually reserved for Negroes.

The desegregated Sugar Bowl crowds resulted from the Navy distributing 13,000 tickets without regard for a racial stipulation printed on them.

Earlier, the National Assn. for Advancement of Colored People protested because the tickets could be used only by caucasians.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Thomas ordered the tickets sold to Midshipmen, recruits and others without regard to the stipulation.

Six-Team Western Ready For Watchful Waiting In '55

By JAY HICKS

DENVER (INS)—The Class A Western League, minus Denver and Omaha, is quietly preparing to fight for its life during the 1955 baseball season.

Owners and managers of the six teams remaining in the loop have a terrific handicap, however:

They lack a crystal ball to tell them whether the league will do an el foldo within a couple of years, remain steady, or see the team lineups shift as minor leagues search desperately for paying combinations at the expense of weaker clubs.

Sen. Edwin C. Johnson, president of the Western League, gave a hint of loop worry when he noted:

"We were dealt a pretty hard blow when we lost Denver and Omaha to the American Association." The advancement left Colorado Springs, Pueblo, Wichita, Lincoln, Des Moines and Sioux City in the league.

1955 Goal

Johnson expressed the Western League goal for 1955 when he said, "We hope still to lead other Class A leagues this coming season in attendance."

The league prexy then revealed that individual clubs in the league plan "a lot of promotion work"—something they've never gone overboard on before.

Johnson said several cities, meanwhile, have submitted what he called "tentative application" for team memberships in 1956. He declined to identify the cities. However, one definite candidate is believed to be Topeka, Kan. The other possibilities include Dodge City, Kan., and Cheyenne, Wyo.

One door to the Western League outlook hinges upon Johnson himself. The Senator, soon to be inaugurated as governor of Colorado, would make no comment regarding his status as president of the league.

Earlier it was believed Johnson would resign his baseball job to concentrate on gubernatorial duties.

Now the hot-stove gossip is that Johnson will kneel to the plea of the Western League for at least a year — the plea that he stay on and lend his healthy baseball prestige to the work of keeping the loop's chin above water.

Bill MacPhail, outgoing general manager of the Colorado Springs Sky Sox, says survival of Wichita, Lincoln, and Sioux City in the Western League remains doubtful.

MacPhail's reasoning is that the clubs are too near bigger league cities that will attract crowds normally destined to watch Class A games.

MacPhail, who will soon go to the Kansas City Athletics as public relations chief, even forecast that Colorado Springs might become involved in a shuffle of leagues.

He said the Sky Sox eventually may form the nucleus for a new loop along with Amarillo, Albuquerque, Phoenix and Lubbock, Tex., thus upsetting southwestern baseball minor circuits.

Despite his bleak predictions, MacPhail reasoned the Western League would be stronger this year than ever before "because of major league connections." Each team will be affiliated with a major club.

If MacPhail is correct in saying that proximity to a bigger league city can be disastrous for a smaller team, then Colorado Springs and Pueblo may find themselves overshadowed by the new, Yankee-affiliated Denver Bears.

In short, the six-team Western League faces a perplexing year.

Bates Urges New 'Jail,' Personnel Changes At Penitentiary

Report Recommends Hiring Psychiatrist, Social Workers

By ARCH DONOVAN
Star Staff Writer

Erection of a new maximum segregation building as urged by Warden H. H. Hann is the prime recommendation given the Board of Control by Sanford Bates of Trenton, N. J., nationally known penologist, on completion of a week's inspection of the state's penal institutions. It would replace the present "jail," or in prison lingo the "hole."

In addition to the segregation building, the Bates report also recommended a number of other changes, mostly involving personnel.

An overall prison director, the hiring of social workers, a part-time psychiatrist, a full-time psychologist, and a salary increase for prison guards were all mentioned by the expert.

He made no estimate in his report of the cost for any of the recommended changes, with the exception that the penal affairs director should be paid a salary of between $7,500 and $9,000.

The punishment facilities or "hole" came in for criticism and contain "cells that should never be used again by the prison," Bates reported.

"The whole building, to some extent, and this ground floor in particular, constitute a punishment section totally unworthy of the State of Nebraska," he said. "I do not say there are no worse punishment sections in the country. At least there was no solid iron door on these cells when I inspected them and therefore the occupant could not be entirely shut off from light and air as sometimes happens."

Bates complained that the jail had been used not only for punishment but for segregation of those who could not get along with their fellows. He said he did not think the warden and his staff have sufficiently distinguished between the two.

"New quarters should be immediately built wherein humane segregation can be carried out and a distinction drawn between a session of punishment and a long period of separation from the community," Bates insisted.

Bates' 15-page report released by the Board of Control Monday afternoon stressed improvement of the guard personnel by increasing salaries and improved recruitment and training of guards to "establish greater recognition for the dignity and importance of the office of prison officer."

He urged the employment of a psychiatrist at least half time and a full time psychologist "working on his job, not somebody else's."

Social Workers

It was also recommended that two social workers and an institutional parole officer be employed. He would also separate the functions of the record office and welfare department.

Bates urged that a director of penal and correctional affairs be employed at a salary of from $7,500 to $9,000 a year. He also urged that consideration be given to increasing salaries of supervisors including the Board of Control.

Greater cooperation between the Board of Control and the Board of Pardons and Parole in the selection of prisoners for release and their preparation therefore was recommended. At the present the pardon Board makes the selections.

'Usual Morale'

"I could not say that the morale of the general inmate population appeared to be bad," Bates said. "As a matter of fact from what I saw, with the exception of the men in segregation and third grade, there seemed to be about the usual morale that one encounters in a prison . . . I could not detect any evident resentment."

As to the report of the citizen's committee appointed by Gov. Crosby, Bates said it contained four types of allegations. He listed them and his reactions:

(1) Improper use of state property or improper treatment and use of the labor of prisoners. "I am informed that the committee's evidence has been submitted to the attorney general and that your board is awaiting such action as is required by law enforcement agencies."

(2) Neglect of duty by officials of the prison as evidenced in the testimony at the Claussen murder case.

"This case was heard at length by a court and jury. If there was suspected perjury at the trial that is the business of the prosecuting authorities. If the evidence disclosed neglect or lack of alertness on the part of the warden, deputy or supervisory staff, that is a matter for action and determination of your board based on the evidence submitted."

Cause For Criticism

(3) Brutality by employees and top officials, including mental cruelty as evidenced by vulgar and profane language employed by guards.

"My brief investigation leads me to believe that there was cause for criticism in the action of certain guards and probably supervisory officers."

(4) A general failure to understand the purposes of a prison and to effectually implement it.

"I am constrained to believe that, while in certain superficial aspects the prison was well maintained, largely the rank and file of officers have a dim idea as to what the whole purpose of a corrective institution is and, to some extent, the supervisory personnel themselves."

Well Built

In 11 instances, Bates found satisfactory conditions prevailing. The prison was found well built and adequate with little opportunity for prisoners to escape.

"The cleanliness and general appearance of the institution was, in my opinion, above the average," he said. "I would be inclined to rate it nearly 100 per cent on the matter of cleanliness and appearance."

He found no overcrowding except in the dormitories which will be remedied within a few days when the prisoners are moved to the new trusty building outside the walls but within the wire fence.

"If this building is not permitted to become overcrowded it will be one of the finest dormitory buildings in any prison in the country," he commented.

Prisoners Work

He said he found a substantial number of prisoners at work on the farm and power house outside the barrier. Heating and ventilating he found adequate.

"I ate the prison fare and found it palatable and sufficient," Bates said. "I took the same food which the inmates had and my appetite was satisfied with half of it." He said it consisted of a tasty meat loaf, mashed potatoes and gravy, green beans, bread and coffee.

"I went through the mess hall at an evening meal and took special note of the fact that most of the plates were cleaned off and most inmates were eating with a relish."

Housekeeping Excellent

He noted that paint has not been permitted to wear off and become dingy. "On the whole I would rate the housekeeping in this institution as excellent," he commented.

Recreational facilities were found ample.

"On the whole the visiting room was excellently devised, and I am told it was the installation of the present warden," he said in discussing visiting methods used in different prisons.

"I cannot help but feel that some risks are run by leaving the hospital and in fact the whole prison completely uncovered so far as medical and nursing attendants is concerned," Bates said after praising Dr. B. A. Finkle, prison doctor. "There are no nurses in the institution."

SANFORD BATES

Bates Scores Reformatory Housekeeping'

Sanford Bates, prison expert, criticized the "house-keeping" at the Men's Reformatory in his report on penal institutions.

"The program is reasonably good, but the housekeeping leaves a lot to be desired," Bates said of the reformatory. "I found many of the rooms inside cluttered up, and the yards presented an unfavorable appearance with piles of old lumber and tile and junk of various kinds.

"I understand that the superintendent has a passion for saving money for the taxpayers which certainly is a desirable thing, and that he has purchased a great deal of second hand material and it is probably this practice that partly accounts for the slovenly appearance of the buildings.

'Bit Disappointing'

"It is a bit disappointing to find that the housing part of the institution consists of iron cell blocks, much the same as one would find in a prison or penitentiary."

He said the school program appears ample and that a dozen or more college men have been employed as instructors.

He criticized lack of a rule book for guidance of employees. "Also the punishment block, while not as bad as that at the prison, is bad enough and ought to be replaced by some more modern structure," he asserted.

"Men who go in there for punishment, while they are reported not to make long stays there, are deprived of all privileges and sleep on a concrete bench with no mattress and blankets are furnished only in winter.

No Officer In Block

"The doctor visits only once a week and no officer is quartered in the block and, in order to attract attention, the inmate would have to shout loud enough to be heard outside the jail.

"If work and study are the main ingredients for reformation, then this institution seems to be accomplishing its purpose."

He expressed the opinion that conditions could be improved with a more genuine classification committee.

Bates said that the record of the Women's Reformatory at York was remarkable in that in 10 years 293 women have been released and only nine returned.

"Except that I think an occasional visit by a psychiatrist and the presence of a trained social worker might be helpful, I have no comments to make on this institution," Bates reported.

Kansas Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary

David L. Baldridge, 20 from Chanute, Kan., has pleaded guilty in Lancaster District Court to the Christmas Eve burglary of Charlie's Jewelry at 934 P.

Two of the seven guns taken turned up during a fracas in the Silver-Ra Vlub at 910 R and led to the arrest of Baldridge, according to Police Chief Joe Carroll.

Baldridge told the court he gave one of the guns to a friend to hold, who gave it to another person, who wouldn't return it. He had left and returned with another gun.

Baldridge, who has been working in Lincoln since July, said he took the guns with the intention of selling them.

He entered the jewelry store, owned by Charles Sherman, by going through a transom over the door.

The defendant said he was on parole from the Kansas Industrial Reformatory since April where he served a five-to-10 year sentence for a Hutchinson, Kan., burglary in December, 1952.

Baldridge told Judge Paul White that he only gets "into trouble between Nov. 15 and Jan. 15," but said "I don't know why. I'm not crazy."

Baldridge's parole officer said his record in Nebraska had been good and that he was taking adult education courses.

Judge White deferred sentencing pending a court review of the defendant's record.

600 '55 Car Plates Issued First Day

An estimated 600 Lancaster County motorists obtained their 1955 car plates during first-day sales Monday at the Courthouse. Mike Knopp of 3400 Cornhusker Highway (right) was among the first persons to hand their money over to Bureau Cashier S. C. Kolhapp of 3900 South and receive his new license plates. County Treasurer C. E. Berg said nearly 1,200 persons paid their 1955 car tax Monday, but apparently some did not queue up for the longer wait to obtain plates. Some mail orders for plates were returned Monday when owners failed to include 1955 motor vehicle tax statements. Most statements, mailed over the week end by the county assessors, were not received by car owners until Monday. (Star Photo.)

Gable Denies He Eloped With Mrs. Kay Spreckels

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Clark Gable, the "king" of Hollywood leading men, returned to filmland Monday and promptly brandeed rumors that he had eloped with Kay Williams Spreckels as "silly."

Through his studio, 20th Century-Fox, Gable, a veteran of four trips to the altar in the past, declared:

"The whole thing is a silly rumor, and I don't know how it got started in the first place."

He denied he planned to retire after completing his current film "Soldier of Fortune" at 20th Century-Fox.

Mrs. Spreckels, ex-wife of sugar Heir Adolph Spreckels and a former actress, has been Gable's off-and-on companion for a number of years.

West Siders Want Trailer Park Action

Citizens of the "West Side Community," identified as persons living and doing business in the area generally between No. 1st and 5th from West O to West Q, have petitioned the City Council to enforce provisions of the new zoning law that apply to trailer camps.

The 105 signers of the petition stated in a letter to the Council that 13 trailer courts in the area are operating without having complied with the zoning ordinance. All operations in violation of the ordinance, the petition states, should be prosecuted.

Some courts, the petition said, have sought no permit to operate while others are operating in spite of the fact that permits have been denied them.

The zoning ordinance requires that trailer courts may be located only in business, commercial and industrial classifications and then on a permit basis only. The permit is good so long as the court complies with other requirements such as size per trailer location and furnishing of utilities.

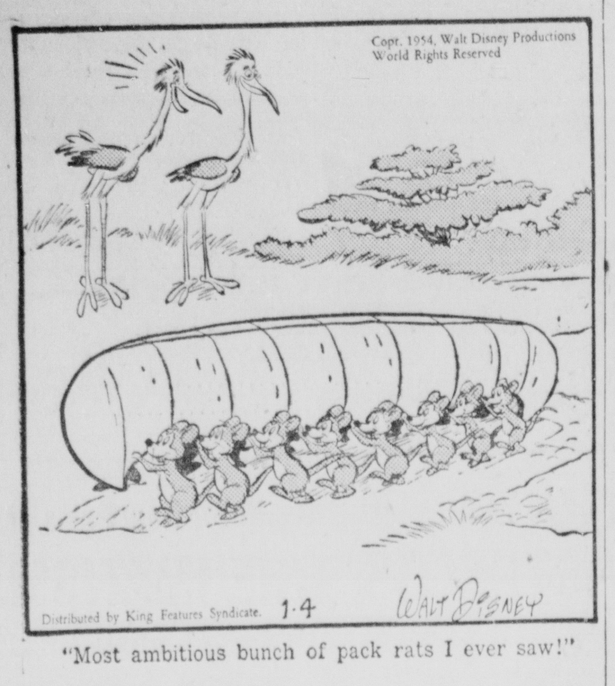

The matter was referred informally to the city building inspector and legal department.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

BAERING DOWN ON THE NEWS By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer

(Distributed by International News Service)

When Congress gets on the shooting end of its laundry frank it will be Democratic. They will have the slight edge of a stone-age razor.

☆ ☆ ☆

Ike will not worry because Harry Truman ate the other half of that political grapefruit in 1946. In the next two years the Missouri waltzer stacked up against a Republican Congress.

☆ ☆ ☆

Which evaporation of confidence didn't stymie Harry from stretching another octave on the White House. He ran and won again in 1948.

☆ ☆ ☆

We concede Harry was expert in playing both ends against the middle. He learned that in Missouri trapping a racoon in a hollow log.

☆ ☆ ☆

But Ike will never be the slick politico Harry was. Harry enjoyed sherry-and-egg anytime he heard a hen cackling under a grape-vine.

Most Grains Gain, Wheat Off A Cent

CHICAGO (AP)—Most grains advanced on the Board of Trade Monday, wheat being a conspicuous exception. The bread cereal lost more than a cent, ending at about the day's lows.

There was very little pressure against other grains. However, they suffered some set back in the afternoon. This reduced gains in most cases but wiped them out in September corn and January soybeans.

Wheaat closed ⅝-1⅛ lower, corn ⅛ lower to ⅝ higher, oats ⅝-½ higher, rye ½-1¼ higher, soybeans ¾ lower to 1⅝ higher and lard 5 to 18 cents a hundred pounds higher.

Main trouble with wheat was more rain in the Southwest. It was felt the current moisture, coming after that of last week, would go far toward carrying the wheat crop until next spring in many areas.

There was some buying in soybeans stimulated by reports three barges containing 124,000 bushels left Chicago for New Orleans. Presumably, these beans are for export. Formosa was granted $3,910,000 to buy American soybeans.

Manila-Pact Nations Set Feb. 23 Talk To Start Delivery On S.E. Asia Defense Promises

WASHINGTON (AP)—The foreign ministers of the eight Manila Pact nations announced Monday they will meet Feb. 23 at Bangkok, Thailand, to begin delivering on the treaty's promises to defend Southeast Asia.

Announcement of the gathering was made simultaneously in the capitals of all eight countries — Australia, France, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines, Thailand, Britain and the United States.

"The purpose of the meeting," said the U. S. State Department, "will be to consider arrangements for the implementation of the Manila treaty and to exchange views on matters affecting the peace and security of the treaty area."

Perhaps the most troubled spot of the area is Indochina, where a truce this summer ended nearly eight years of fighting without keeping the Communists out. Laos, Cambodia and Southern Viet Nam —the Associated States of Indochina—are covered by the treaty although they are not signers.

Subversives

The military aspects of Indochina—meaning the growing Communist forces in the north—will be considered at the Bangkok meeting. So, too, will be the question of subversive infiltration of the weak government of Southern Viet Nam.

U. S. policy in Indochina has been to reduce the size and boost the effeciency of local armed forces, so as to prepare them to cope better with subversion. Prime reliance for repelling any military aggression in force would be placed on the retaliatory powe" of the Manila Pact countries.

Secretary of State Dulles has said the Bangkok meeting will explore the possibility of creating a combined striking force of naval and military units. He has said it may be decided whether such a group should include, in addition to U. S. forces, warships and troops from Britain, France or any of the five other nations.

The only Asian signers—Pakistan, Thailand and the Philippines, have been invited also to a late-April meeting in Indonesia of 30 Afro-Asian countries. Pakistan, in fact, is one of the five Colombo powers—the others being India, Indonesia, Ceylon, and Burma—which set up this meeting.

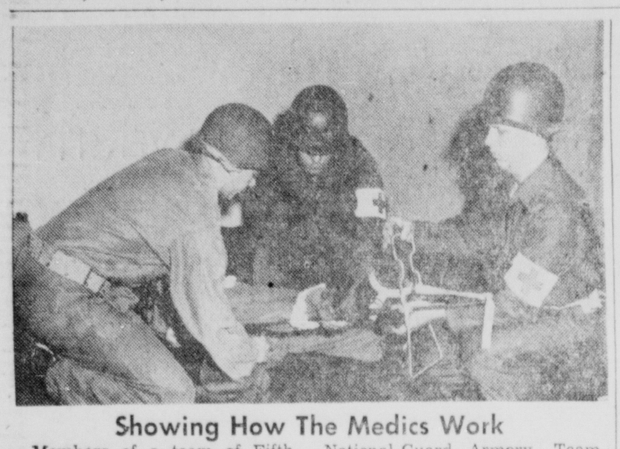

Ambiguous

Dulles has said the Afro-Asian conference's aims, as announced, seem ambiguous to him. But he said the question of whether there was a conflict between that and the Bangkok session would have to be judged by the Asian countries which share membership in both groups.

A working committee of experts has been preparing for the Bangkok meeting. They have held several meetings in Washington, with State Department Counselor Douglas MacArthur II representing the United States. MacArthur did much the same work in advance of the Sept. 8 meeting at Manila, where the treaty was signed.

The State Department said Dulles was planning to go to Bangkok and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden is expected to represent Great Britain.

Showing How The Medics Work

Members of a team of Fifth Army medical corpsmen show how a wounded soldier is treated for a leg fracture in this practice session. The medic team will give a demonstration of the latest in casualty care for GIs to Lincoln Reservists, National Guardsmen and ROTC students Wednesday evening at the National Guard Armory. Team demonstrators shown here are from Fort Carson, Colo., and are (from left) Pfc. Kenneth R. Werner, Sgt. Joseph C. Shepard, and Cpl. Urban O. Cleek. Modeling the leg splint is Col. George J. Kantor, of the Fifth Army surgeon's office, who is leading the team. (U.S. Army Photo.)

Four Skiers Alive After Snow Burial

... Sierra Avalanche

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—Four Berkeley skiers told Monday of their narrow escape from death buried under four feet of snow in an avalanche.

The avalanche occurred on a slope of Mt. Ralston, near Echo Lake, in the Sierra.

The rescue came by mere chance. The four would have died in a few hours. Three of them were members of the expedition that last year tried to scale 27,800-foot Mt. Makalu in the Himalaya range, the world's third highest mountain.

The four were Kenneth D. Adam, Allen P. Steck, William W. Dunmire and Richard C. Houston, all of Berkeley and expert skiers and mountain climbers.

The four and 16 others were at a cabin on Echo Lake for the weekend. A severe storm Saturday caused cancellation of a trip to Pyramid Peak.

Despite Storm

Steck, Dunmire, Houston and Adam set out on a ski trip up Mt. Ralson despite the storm. The others planned to stay at the cabin.

When the four reached the 1,500 level, the entire slope, about 200 yards wide, let go without warning and carried the men 120 feet, burying them in the hard-packed snow.

Houston managed to clear the snow from his face. The others were entirely covered but Adam and Dunmire were able to clear an air space around their faces. Steck, trapped face down, with one leg and a ski twisted under him, was covered with four feet of snow. He lost consciousness.

Meanwhile seven other guests decided they, too, would venture up the slope. They left 30 minutes after the first party and, by chance, took the same route. The snowstorm had all but covered the first trail.

Gloved Hand

John Linford and his wife, Louise, of Berkeley, were in the lead. Houston, his head barely out of the snow, sighted them and shouted. The Linfords and Dr. and Mrs. Morgan Harris of Berkeley dug Houston out. Others in the group saw a gloved hand nearby and found Dunmire. Ahead of him, they found Adam. As soon as his head was uncovered, he said: "Find the other man. He's just ahead of me."

Dr. Harris found Steck's hand, blue with cold. The glove had been torn away. Using their ski points as shovels, the rescuers finally uncovered Steck. He was gasping for breath but soon regained consciousness.

First Barracks Of WW I Vets Formed Here

Lt. Col. George F. Smith (Ret.) has been named commander of Barracks No. 165, Veterans of World War I of the U.S.A.

Lt. Col. Smith

Other officers named at the special meeting were:

James L. Stroud, senior vice commander.

Harry W. Jespersen, junior vice commander.

John T. Flowers, adjutant and quartermaster.

Alba E. Brown, chaplain.

Dewey O Coots, trustee.

Clarence C. Becker, trustee.

Andrew J. Eberle, trustee.

The meeting was held at the Smith home, 2633 Garfield.

It is the first Barracks of World War I veterans to be organized in Nebraska.

Additional Land Way Cleared For State Mansion

The path for the acquisition of two lots from the Charles A. Tucker estate by the State of Nebraska for the development of the Governor's Mansion site has been cleared in Lancaster County Court.

Judge Herbert Ronin has authorized the executor's sale of the two lots facing on H Street and located between the present mansion site and 14th street, to the State for $29,600.

The sale was authorized with the consent of the YMCA of Lincoln, residuary legatee in the estate.

State officials said the land acquisition would complete the half-block site which is intended for the construction of a new mansion or expansion of the present building.

The land purchase will be made under the $50,000 fund authorized by the Legislarute.

100 Lancaster 4-H Awards Made

More than 100 Lancaster County 4-H Club members received awards Monday night for outstanding work in various fields during the last year.

Cyril Bish, county agent, presented pins to the retiring members of the county club council.

Rodney Knox and Raymond Noyes, who were delegates to the National 4-H Congress held in Chicago, reported on work of the congress.

The awards were presented by Frances Runty and Carl Hill, county extension agents.

Municipal League Post To Chapman

Lloyd E. Chapman, former Lincoln deputy city attorney, has been named to succeed William Nuernberger as legal advisor for the League of Nebraska Municipalities.

Nuernberger resigned the post last week to accept a post with a local law firm.

C. E. Beals, executive secretary of the league said in announcing the appointment that it was effective Jan. 1. Chapman will represent the league before the Unicameral in connection with bills of interest to municipalities.

Sales Limits Argued Before City Council

Attorney Hyman Polsky has presented arguments against the proposed amended city ordinance to regulate the use of "going out of business" sales. The matter is before the City Council on third reading.

The attorney objected to the inclusion in the ordinance of regulations on "liquidation sales."

A liquidation, Polsky said, is not the same as quitting business. If a merchant wants to clean out or cut down his stock for purposes of moving his location or clearing out merchanise, Polsky said, he should not have to come before this Council for a permit to do so.

Putting the liquidation sales in the ordinance, he said, is not in harmony with the original intent of the law—to stop the use of "going out of business" sales while a store continues in business indefinitely.

City Councilman Joseph E. Fenton, author of the legislation, stated that both liquidation and "going out of business" were the same things under two different names.

The ordinance was laid over one week for preparation of final details by the city's legal department.

Under the ordinance, a permit from the Council must be obtained to hold either kind of sale. Such a permit is good for 30 days but can be renewed at the option of the city.

Polsky stated that this was not a long enough period and that permits should be good for from 45 to 60 days at least.

Police Auction Slated Tuesday

The auctioneer's voice will ring out Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock as six months' accumulation of odds and ends goes on the block in the semi-annual Police Department auction.

The place: The service garage behind the police station.

Auctioneer Sgt. Bill Christline says the items to be auctioned this year have as good variety as they ever have in years past. Included are some 19 bicycles that have been lying unclaimed at the department for the past six months.

The proceeds from the auction go to the city's general fund. The items auctioned, including unopened suitcases and odd bits of jewelry and sartorial attire, mostly are made up of unclaimed parcels.

Most are turned in as lost items. A few have been confiscated. The auction, however, does not include firearms of any type, ammunition, or even air rifles or pistols.

Neither are alcoholic beverages included.

Science Shrinks Piles 'New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.
